MBTA parking Where will all the stores go?

By ERIN DOWNING

WILMINGTON - "I'm at the mercy of what their decision is. That's the hardest thing ... Being up in the air about what my future is," shared Stanley Ashdown.

Ashdown rents the quaint building housing All Breed Dog Grooming on Main Street in Wilmington. The building is one of the businesses from the Route 62 bridge to the rail road crossing along Rt. 38 that will be relocated for the $5.2 million Town Center train station improvement project. Big Joe's Sub Shop, however, will remain.

As part of the project, the abutting businesses will be razed for the station's proposed 227-space parking lot.

On Monday, August 10th, the Wilmington Board of Selectmen voted in favor of requiring the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) to undergo an informal but "satisfactory" review with the town's planning board.

Prior to the selectmen's discussion of the proposal, Wilmington Town Manager Michael Cairra read eight letters from residents, business owners and town officials, all of whom opposed the project.

Ashdown is among the skeptical residents. "Beauty-wise, I would have preferred it to be more than just a parking lot. I just can't see [the parking lot] doing much for the town," said Ashdown.

He explained that he has been working out of the building since about 1986, and the store has developed its own individuality in Wilmington. "I'm going to lose big time if I move. I'll never find another little building like this to rent," Ashdown said.

One of his worries about relocating is the possible loss of some of his regular customers. When Ashdown moved from North Reading to Wilmington, he explained that he lost about 60 percent of his customers. "I lost a big base of my customers by moving [to Wilmington]," said Ashdown. "I will lose a lot from the move. I haven't started looking for another location because no one has given me a time frame."

State Representative James Miceli offered reassuring words to those individuals who will be relocating. He stressed that the MBTA will not move forward with any construction until they meet with everyone.

"The MBTA will now bring aboard the consultants and engineers. Until they meet with the owners of the businesses and renters, no construction work will be done. The MBTA will help the businesses relocate," said Miceli.

The project is presently at the 30 percent design stage. A 60 percent design is expected next with a completed design to be presented in February. Should the phases of the project move accordingly, construction is said to begin during the next construction season.

New sidewalks, curbing and street lights will be installed along Rt. 38. The MBTA will be responsible for maintaining the parking lot.

Miceli believes that the proposed plan will revitalize the area, which has been referred to as an eyesore by some town officials.

"The town center will look a lot better when this project is completed," expressed Miceli.

Wilmington's Board of Selectmen Chairman, Michael Newhouse stated that the MBTA Project Manager, William Howell said that he would meet informally with the planning board to iron out any problems the town might have.

Offering his assistance to the residents, Miceli stated that the town is his prime concern. "I will be there to help to make sure no one gets burned in the process. They can call me to intervene, and I will be happy to help," said Miceli.

School committee says No drug testing

By ERIN DOWNING

WILMINGTON - At their August 19 meeting, the Wilmington School Committee voted to deny a proposed policy that would allow random drug testing of athletes.

Several board members stressed that the policy would discriminate against students who participate in interscholastic athletics. "I feel this is discrimination," said committee member Barbara Breakey. "If we were going to have testing, we should have random drug testing and not just with athletes."

School Committee Chairwoman Suzanne Rooney agreed with Breakey, stating, "I have a problem with picking one group in the high school."

Noting that it is legal to randomly test the athletes, fellow board member Susanne Clarkin suggested speaking to the local police and the high school's staff before voting on the policy.

Policy #5200 calls for random, suspicionless, urinalysis testing of student athletes. "The basic foundation of this policy is that it is undertaken in furtherance of the government's responsibility, under a public school system, as guardian and tutor of children entrusted to its care," reads the policy.

The test would only look for standard drugs, not medical conditions, and results would be released to a limited defined group, according to the policy.

Recently elected board member Bridget Zukas shared her feelings on the matter based on her experience as a former Wilmington School Committee member. "Only once in the nine years did I make a political vote, which involved testing the children for drugs," she expressed. "I feel now is the time to get rid of this and vote against [the policy]."

Zukas served on the committee for nine years in the 1980's. She was appointed by the school committee and Wilmington Board of Selectmen on August 10 to serve the remainder of former committee member Robert Young's term.

With the support of School Superintendent Geraldine O'Donnell and High School Principal Edward Woods, Rooney voted against the policy. "I have good faith in the people at this high school to realize when there is a problem [with drugs] and to deal with it. I honestly feel that if there is a problem, it will be made known," she stated.

Rooney mentioned that the cost to do the testing is very expensive and that the money could be used elsewhere.

In other news, the Wildwood School is working to implement their 1998-1999 school improvement plan. Principal Robert Arsenault and several teachers attended the meeting to present the 12 objectives in the plan.

Some of the objectives include providing support to students and staff where high enrollments are a concern, continuing to update the school's technology education program and supporting the staff in implementing the curriculum frameworks.

Reading from the plan, Arsenault stated that they will continue the full-time assignment of two of the educational tutors in third grade classrooms. Teacher Jan Merlino said that there will be one tutor for each of the two third grade classrooms. "The tutors will spend all day in the class-

Unrelated arrest in Wilmington

Counterfeit bills passed in Tewksbury

By PAUL HAYES

Town Crier Correspondent
TEWKSBURY - Police are on the lookout for local counterfeiters after three area businesses found fake twenties in their registers.

On Wednesday, August 19, the McDonalds on 1909 Andover St. received two counterfeit twenty dollar bills; and on Thursday, August 20, the McDonalds on 1928 Main St. received two fake twenties, and Aubut's Liquors, 1768 Main St. received one fake twenty.

The McDonalds restaurants were tipped off to the funny money by a North Reading McDonalds, which had been passed counterfeit money over the previous weekend.

In none of these cases were cashiers aware that they had been passed counterfeit money, and so police have very little information on possible suspects.

According to officer Leonard Bolton, the counterfeit twenties are well made, citing the fact that the North Reading McDonalds did not know they had taken fake money until their bank returned the bills to them.

"The color is a little off on the back, [but otherwise] they're actually pretty good bills," Bolton said.

The fake twenties can be identified by the use of a marking pen, which has black ink that turns yellow when applied to authentic United States currency. One McDonalds used the marking pens to find their fake twenties.

According to Bolton, the counterfeiters are only using two different serial numbers on the fake twenties they used at Aubut's Liquors and the two McDonalds had the same serial numbers. Fake twenties with matching serial numbers were also used in Wilmington.

The fake twenties are not thought to be connected to the arrest of two men for the possession of counterfeit money in Wilmington on Thursday, August 20. The serial numbers on the bills they carried did not match those of the twenties passed in Tewksbury and Wilmington.

Tewksbury police are currently working with the Secret Service on this case.

Wilmington Police Officer

Buddy Hubby trial date set

By ERIN DOWNING

The trail of a 38-year-old Wilmington Police Officer charged with being an accomplice to receiving stolen property is scheduled to begin November 11, 1998 at Rockingham Superior Court in Brentwood, N.H.

Harold "Buddy" Hubby was arrested by Massachusetts State Police without incident Tuesday, July 14th and arraigned in Woburn District Court on fugitive from justice charges. He waived extradition and was taken by New Hampshire State Police to Rockingham County Court for an arraignment.

Hubby is charged with 5 Class A felony counts of accomplice to receiving stolen property, according to Kelly Ayotte, Assistant Attorney General for New Hampshire. He is charged with having solicited Kevin Brown, 39, of Newton, N.H. to retain five stolen tractor trailer box trailers on his property in Newton. Brown is charged with having retained the stolen trailers.

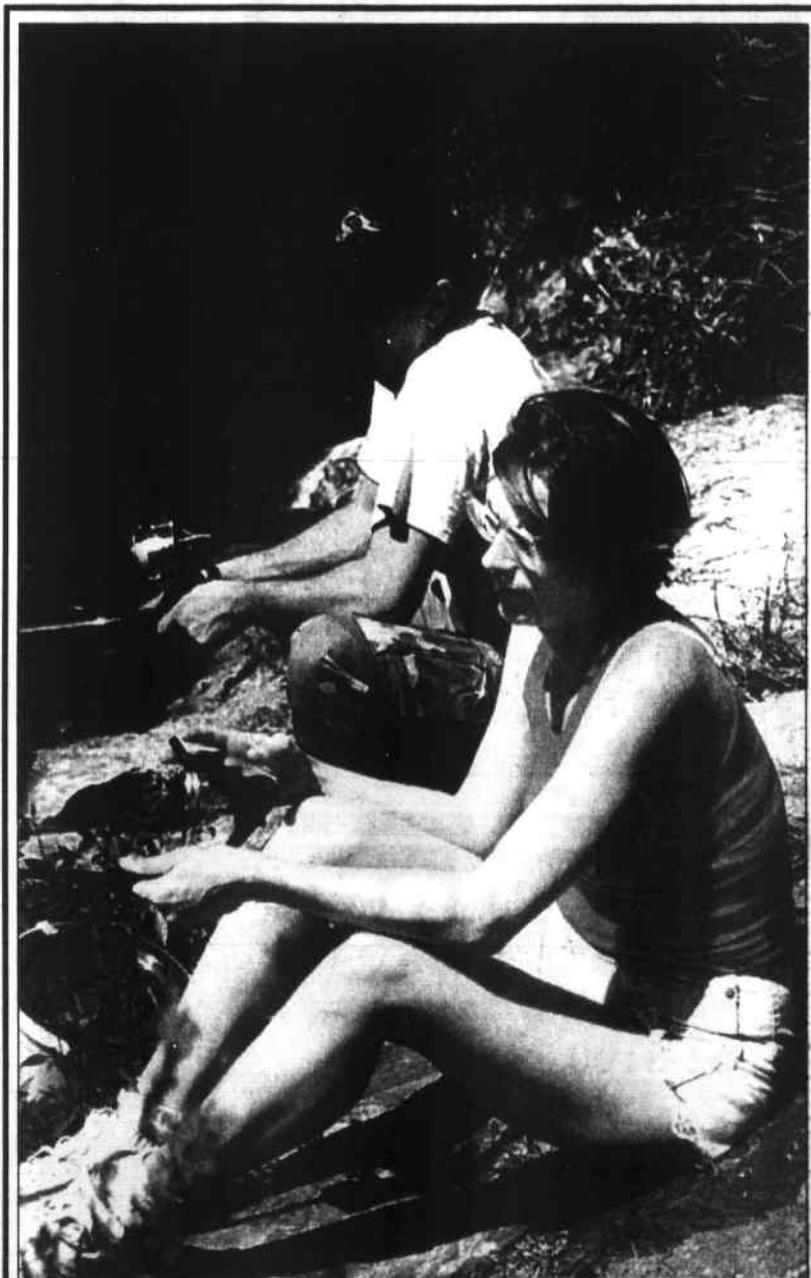

Brown, a truck driver and mechanic was arrested without incident June 3rd by New Hampshire State Police.

The trailers were stolen from Haverhill, Springfield, Billerica and Brattleboro, V.T. According to a Wilmington trucking firm, the average cost of a new trailer is between sixteen and twenty thousand dollars.

Wilmington Deputy Police Chief Bernard Nally previously stated that Hubby has been relieved of duty, noting that he has been a fine officer, and has done his job well.

If convicted, Hubby faces a maximum of 15 years in jail on each count. He is presently free on $10,000 bail after his appearance in the New Hampshire Court.

It's YOUR Money

by Joyce Brisbois

START YOUR KIDS ON A ROTH IRA

The longer a Roth IRA sits compounding value tax-free, the greater it's benefits. If it's worth doing 10, 20, 30 years before retirement, imagine the value of a 50 or 55 year lead. Any child with earned income is qualified to invest the earnings - up to $2,000 a year - in a Roth IRA.

And if the youngster isn't interested in stashing away his or her baby-sitting or paper route money, there's nothing to stop Dad or Grandma from providing the necessary capital.

What about ordinary IRAs for a child? Not worth the difference. The tax deduction is hardly a consideration, given how much a child can earn tax free a year. Indeed, if that industrious child already has an ordinary deductible IRA, this is a good time to roll it over into a Roth. Remember: though a child under 14 owes taxes at his or her parents' rate on investment income, earned income is taxed at the child's own rate, usually 15 percent.

Let us pinpoint opportunities to help you save even more effectively. You'll get good ideas at...

I was just thinking*

by Stu Neilson

Why is it that** when there is a storm brewing, every news organization in America finds it necessary to send a local reporter to the scene. This morning each of the local stations had their "man on the scene" in North or South Carolina. Were they there on vacation and just happened to find a roving camera crew, with a live satellite feed? Or don't these people listen to their own stories when they say things like, "In a few hours, this place where I'm standing will be under water" and "State police are going door to door asking [people they find] for information about their next of kin."

It's not that I'm not interested in North Carolina, my brother lives there***. Or South Carolina, my brother-in-law and his wife are on vacation there on vacation***. Don't they have TV crews with network affiliation in those places, or did those crews have the sense to evacuate?*

I can understand sending Victoria Block to stand "outside the courthouse where in a few hours... yada, yada, yada**** & *****" or David Boeri "on the scene where just a few hours ago a car careened... yada, yada, yada***** & *****"

* Idea stolen from Mike Barnacle (formerly of a major Boston newspaper).

** Tag line stolen from Andy Rooney.

*** True fact interjected for realism effect.

**** Line stolen from every Seinfeld segment every broadcast or re-broadcast live or otherwise.

***** They never really said that. I made it up to make the story sound like I had done research.

Red Cross hurricane tips

HAVERHILL - Although it seems that our little section of New England will miss being hit by hurricane Bonnie these tips provided by the Red Cross will get you ready for the next hurricane, which could be only a week away! These measures taken or prepared for now can save you a lot of trouble in the very near future. The Merrimack Valley Chapter of the American Red Cross has released important tips to prepare for a hurricane.

"Hurricanes are most threatening to residents along our nation's coastline." But such fierce storms also have been known to build up enough momentum to carry their destructive winds inland for hundreds of miles, said John Licciardi, Development and Public Relations Director, American Red Cross. "Being prepared can alleviate some of the damage that hurricanes can inflict upon your home and community," said John.

Here's what you can do to prepare for such an emergency:

- 1) Prepare a Home Evacuation Plan
    - a) Identify ahead of time where you could go if you are told to evacuate.
    - b) Keep handy telephone numbers of family and friends.
    - c) Take a road map.
  - 2) Assemble a Hurricane Safety Kit
    - a) First aid kit and essential medications
    - b) Fire extinguisher, canned food, can opener, bottled water.
    - c) Protective clothing, rainwear and blankets.
    - d) Battery powered radio, flashlight and extra batteries.
  - 3) Listen to your local radio and TV stations for updated storm information.
  - 4) Take in garbage cans, lawn furniture, bicycles, anything that could fly around and cause damage.
  - 5) Fill your car's gas tank and prepare to evacuate if told so.
  - 6) If not evacuating, stay inside and away from windows.
- Remember these tips when a hurricane is approaching your area. For more information or literature on hurricanes, contact the Merrimack Valley Red Cross at 978-372-6871 or 978-683-2465. You can count on your Merrimack Valley Red Cross to be there to help you and your family. That's been our role for more than 100 years.

Sullivan says he has vision needed for the job

By PAMELA MIETH

Judgment, vision and managerial experience are the qualities needed in the next Middlesex County district attorney, says candidate Michael Sullivan, and he thinks he's just the man for the job.

Sullivan, currently a Cambridge city councillor, is a former Middlesex County assistant district attorney and former prosecutor in the state attorney general's office.

He is vying against former Middlesex County Assistant District Attorney Martha Coakley and former Norfolk County Assistant District Attorney Timothy Flaherty in the Sept. 15 Democratic primary. The winner of that race will go on to face uncontested Republican challenger Lee Johnson in the general election.

Part of Sullivan's vision for the office, he says, includes cracking down on those scofflaws with outstanding warrants.

"People are just laughing at the system," he said of those ignoring their court obligations, and some of those people may go on to commit more heinous crimes.

Sullivan notes that one of the defendants in the Jeffrey Curley murder case had outstanding warrants against him.

"We also need to focus on youth violence," he said, noting intervention and prevention efforts are needed earlier on.

Sullivan said the district attorney's office is a prosecutorial office, but it also needs to be an advocate for programs and resources that help reduce the impact of crime and violence.

For instance, he noted that "10 kids are killed daily in this country by handgun violence."

"We need to make people responsible for their handguns and what happens with them," he said.

He said the district attorney must be an advocate for such things as more shelters for battered women, noting that there is only one such shelter in metro West, leaving women trying to escape abusive relationships few options.

Community policing is a key ingredient to public safety, Sullivan said.

He said, if elected, he would put an end to the practice of rotating assistant district attorneys out of the district courts after only a short period of time.

Some 90 percent of the cases handled by the district attorney's office are through the district courts, he said. Rotating people doesn't build the kind of trust and relationships that help the assistant district attorneys work with the communities they serve to address problems, he said.

Sullivan said he would focus on domestic and youth violence, taking them to the next level and developing partnerships with schools, human service agencies and parent groups.

Sullivan sees the office in more activist terms.

"I don't think as district attorney you can be waiting for the next big case and the TV lights to come on," he said, indicating either Coakley, who has handled several high-profile cases, or her boss, outgoing District Attorney Thomas Reilly, who has taking some flak for his alleged love of the cameras.

Asked his opinion of cameras in the courtroom, Sullivan said he didn't think they were so much a problem as "the pundits afterward."

"Cameras," he said, "give a glimpse of how the justice system works."

He said he was also concerned that those who argue against cameras in the courtroom might be only one step away from arguing against any press in the courtroom, long considered a safeguard to a fair and public judicial system.

Sullivan said he is against the death penalty because "it's not a deterrent."

He suggested those who say they're against it but make exceptions (such as Coakley's for those who kill law enforcement agents) are pandering for endorsements.

Vision needed

Of the qualities needed for the job, he said, "my two counterparts talk about prosecuting cases."

"I've been there; I've done it," he said.

But, it's impossible for one person to try the 35,000 cases that go through the Middlesex County district attorney's office, he said, so what is needed is management and vision.

"Setting the vision is one thing that's been missing," he said.

Sullivan's vision includes the primary task of prosecuting cases and the secondary job of looking for "those borderline cases where you can make a difference."

He noted Suffolk County District Attorney Ralph Martin advocated for more funding for school lunch programs. That seems a strange thing at first for a district attorney, Sullivan said, but Martin knows that if children don't eat, they can't learn; and when they don't learn, their futures are that much bleaker.

The investment now, he said, can help prevent future criminals, which results in a win-win public safety position.

Educating a child costs around $6,000-$8,000 for a year, he said, incarcerating them takes about $30,000.

Sullivan said his has been "a grassroots campaign," and he's been out visiting people in all of the county's different communities.

Campaign fundraising has been competitive, he said, but he estimates he may have the largest number of contributors, but average people giving $10 and $25.

He likes that, he said, because, "The district attorney's office should belong to all of us."

Letter to the Editor

You guys are the best!

A big thank you to the Wilmington Fire Department for the prompt and caring service given to my husband August 3, 1998. You guys

Golf course is bad course for town forest

Letter to the Editor:
The Wilmington Golf Course Committee is on the verge of taking their 1st formal step into turning the Town Forest into a Golf Course. Please contact the Conservation Commission, a Selectman or your State Representative and OPPOSE this proposal. Push for Open Space planning and ask for answers to questions like: How and why is the Taxpayer going to pay for the Golf Course construction? How many and how much herbicides and fertilizer is required to maintain a golf course? What is the impact to our water supply and natural resources? How about alternative locations? On 16 September, the proposal will be presented to the Conservation Commission. Let your voice be heard.

Realtor of the Year for Sharon Kelley-Parrella

WILMINGTON - Sharon Kelley-Parrella of Wilmington, has been presented the 1998 Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors (EMAR) Realtor of the Year Award. The award recognizes outstanding dedication to EMAR programs that benefit the community and to other goals specific to Realtors.

Sharon Kelley-Parrella, owns her own real estate firm, Kelley and Company, located in Wilmington. She was selected for her particular efforts the past year both for EMAR directly and the programs EMAR supports. She was an active participant in the following EMAR endeavors:

- * Establishing the Earth Angels Program, which works in association with Angel Flights of New England.

- * Supporting EMAR's efforts with the Stoneham Vietnam Veteran's Moving Wall Memorial last September.

- * Participating in the various Making Waves fund raising events, which are designed to provide a helping hand to fellow Realtors who are confronted with times of trouble.

- * Serving as a "guiding force" in the acquisition and renovation of EMAR's new building at 68-70 Main Street in Reading.

In addition, Sharon Kelley-Parrella, in the last year, participated in Mass. Association of Realtors (MAR) sponsored meditation training, served on the Mass. Association of Government Affairs Committee, earned the MAR Professional Standards Certification, served as director for EMAR to the Bay State Multiple listing service, helped launch the process for the certification of the EMAR Academy, and more. These are just a few of the reasons Sharon Kelley-Parrella was chosen for this honorable distinction.

The Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors primarily focuses on community service and educating EMAR members. A nonprofit Realtors organization, EMAR is actively involved in aiding various charitable organizations and events. Among the recent organizations benefiting from EMAR's dedicated assistance are Angel Flight of New England, The Stoneham Vietnam Veterans' Moving Wall Memorial Committee, and the Adopt-a-Family program, to name a few. They are currently working on a major fashion show and silent/live auction to benefit Angel Flight New England. This event "An Evening of Angels" will take place September 10.

The Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors is located at 68-72 Main St., Reading, a new facility for the organization, which will soon house classes for Realtors. For more information about EMAR or any of their upcoming events, call 781-944-6006.

Russo earns MBA

WILMINGTON Keley Russo, daughter of Ruth DeLuca and the late Babe DeLuca, received her Master of Business Administration from Simmons, graduating in the top five of her class, with highest honors.

A 1986 graduate of Wilmington High School, she earned a degree from UMass, Amherst in 1990. The wife of Timothy Russo, she is interested in pursuing a career in higher education.

Representative Jim Miceli understands what's important to families in our district ...and it shows.

He knows what to do to create jobs, to increase local aid to our communities and to give taxpayers a needed break.

- Worked hard to secure increases in Local Aid assistance for Tewksbury & Wilmington and funding for Sewer rate relief, local road and bridge projects, local library improvements and snow removal.
- Voted for the largest tax cut in the history of the Commonwealth.
- Helped establish a Fiscal Policy which will attract and keep companies in Massachusetts and for the first time obligates them to create jobs in this state.

He shares our concern about education and the need to give our children the skills and training they need to succeed.

- Worked to secure Education Reform Funding for initiatives in our local schools and increased funding for out State's Higher Education Institutions. Also passed legislation affecting charter and Horace Mann schools.
- Fought to get Tuition Tax Credits and to enhance funding for scholarships and no-interest loan assistance for working families faced with high college costs.
- Supported increased funding for early childhood education, adult basic education, job training initiatives and adult literacy programs.
- Helped create the Education Technology Board which will assist our communities in funding computerization and technology advances in our schools.

He understands our worry about health care and public safety...and he is doing something about it.

- Worked hard for Non-Group Insurance reform to protect people from losing coverage because of job change, age or preexisting conditions.
- Supported HMO Reform.
- Supported strengthening Domestic Violence Prevention programs.
- Helped secure increased funding for Community Policing initiatives and additional resources targeted at juvenile offenders. He also fought for the full funding of the Quinn Bill which helps communities pay incentives to police officers who pursue higher education.

MBTA

Chief O'Loughlin sets tone

For safer, more enjoyable ride

By JIM HAGGERTY

WILMINGTON — Chief Thomas J. O'Loughlin has been on the job since last October with the MBTA.

Since that time, he's rearranged shifts and working schedules with officers and staffers with the MBTA with much fanfare.

Now, he's focused on trying to get the word out to people in communities like Wilmington that the MBTA is user friendly.

The MBTA in the past, he concurs, has had its problems. And, he is quick to admit there are nagging problems that still exist.

However, in speaking to area groups, O'Loughlin vowed to persist in changes to make a ride on the MBTA a reliable, likable, and safe experience every day.

The MBTA, he points out, has some 1 million riders a day in an area from Boston to Wilmington to Providence to Fitchburg and Gloucester.

The trains connect Wilmington to the large metro centers.

The tough stance by O'Loughlin is particularly refreshing as the MBTA increased parking to 227 in Wilmington recently.

Representatives of the MBTA met with selectmen to discuss the updated design of the parking facility to accompany the proposed $5.2 million commuter rail station in town.

The 30 percent design, which originally allowed for 170 spots, has been increased to 227.

"It's a big job but our goal is to have a safe, clean system," he insists.

A task of putting an officer on every car or train is not possible, he says at the outset. However, the goal now is to put in teams of officers and staffers to clean up troubled areas and to provide hundreds of spot checks with force.

The city of Woburn, he points out, is served by trains and buses. Also, he notes, there will be a large Regional Transportation Center built in Woburn on the Wilmington line that must be attended and security has been largely a local concern.

The goal in such areas, he says, is to work very closely with the local communities on policing matters.

Such networks, he said, are now being reinforced with a strong commitment from the MBTA's public safety offices to handle the rush of commuters.

For many years, he noted, he has worked with Woburn Chief of Police Philip Mahoney, including his tour as the President of the Massachusetts Police Chiefs Association in 1993.

There are, he points out, 78 cities and towns under the MBTA umbrella. In addition, there are some 28 courts where miscreants are taken.

"We want to rebuild but we can't without the cooperation of everyone," he insists. "There are also a lot of social issues out there and we are just not in a position to solve them all."

As an example of success, he said crime took a 29 percent drop in the MBTA areas in 1997, as compared to 1992. Last year, the rate represented a 9 percent drop in crime.

"There are certain fears and concerns about people," he said, noting just roving groups of kids can cause a lot of fear for riders.

"We're talking zero tolerance for nonsense," he says firmly.

Action

To bolster confidence, as well as riders, he said a lot of issues are being addressed.

MBTA Chief Thomas J. O'Loughlin

As an example:

- There are now 214 MBTA police in action on patrols, police cars, and motorcycles.

- The number of MBTA police, including many who have been recently re-assigned, has gone from 18 to 88 and will go to 114.

- Four-person teams will work certain routes, define

- The use of cameras on buses to stop violence. "The driver can't do it all; he's up front." Criminals have been apprehended already by the use of cameras.

Message

"The message is out there to those who would cause us some problems," said O'Loughlin of his six-month efforts. "There are some who just don't go peacefully, but so be it."

To get a feeling of the enormity of the situation, O'Loughlin points to just the students at area high schools in the subways.

As an example, he says, there are 6,000 to 8,000 students at Forest Hills at the close of school on any given day.

The issue in the old days was buses, he says, but many are now just in the subways, including being transported by bus to the subways.

And to combat hooliganism,

O'Loughlin has instituted a program where an MBTA officer and two principals ride the subways on any given day.

"We know we can't be on every train and every bus," admits O'Loughlin who feels his new methods will deter crime and make it all safer for commuters.

Chief O'Loughlin points to his experience as an officer with the Boston Housing Authority Police Dept. where he served for eight years (1978-1986).

He's also been an attorney since 1990, which he says, helps him immensely in areas such as seeking search warrants and other technicalities of the law.

He's also had much community experience, having headed the Wayland P.D. in 1986 and later the Wellesley P.D. in 1992 after the so-called Dee Brown Incident.

areas and certain trains, subways and buses;

- The heavy use of plain clothesmen and teams to ride the subways to identify problem riders (We blend well into the crowds and surveys like from Boston newspaper people shows that they are not identifiable);

- The use of force in numbers to stop problems, including the use of task forces using state, local or special police to stop problems;

- The use of 11 dogs, especially in the Logan Airport and South Station areas;

- The targeting of key areas, like Dudley Station, the busiest subway station in the U.S., and a long-time area for drug problems;

- The addition of kiosks at the busy Downtown Crossing and the Forest Hill stations with more to come at the South Station and Roxbury Crossing;

Hey Mom,
A new adult Jazz class too!

QUALITY INSTRUCTION

Lorraine Spada and her faculty are all dance major graduates from the finest dance colleges. Mrs. Spada is a member of Dance Teachers' Club of Boston.

The highly trained members of "Fascinating Rhythm" have been thrilling the public with more than a hundred and twenty concerts since 1986. Our dance troupe members do not dance for the reward of a trophy or title. We perform to share the pure art of dance with our audience.

Come to dance... and celebrate the body, mind, and spirit with US!

Performance Music gains national recognition

WOBURN - Performance Music Center at 405 Main Street in Woburn Center was recently honored by Music Inc., a national magazine. The center, whose name appeared on the honor roll of the Retailing Excellence Awards was one of 75 establishments nationwide who were chosen for the August 1998 Retailing Excellence Awards issue.

One of the requirements for making the list was proficiency in music education.

Recent studies prove that learning to play an instrument is good for a child's development. Music training has been linked with everything from enhancing math and science skills to social development to turning lives around. Kids, however, rarely think in such abstract terms. They simply want to have fun.

Performance Music Center is a place where students can enjoy this kind of experience as they learn the guitar, the bass guitar or the drums.

We always tell the parents that we make learning fun and easy. It's music - it shouldn't be drudgery. We try to have a built-in fun factor in everything we do," explained owner Joe Mullens.

In addition to being in tune with the needs of students, the staff at Performance Music Center is highly qualified. They are top flight musicians who are committed to education and who often rub shoulders with some of the most famous names in show business.

"Students may be surprised to learn that the person they took lessons from just worked on the last Michael Jackson record," Mullens pointed out.

Since opening in 1987, the store has included instructors who have national and sometimes international status.

For example, Carl Nappa is an engineer/producer at the Hit Factory Recording Studio in New York;

Anthony Resta whose credits include Duran Duran, Collective Soul and local super stars Extreme, travels to studios all over the world and Jonathan Mover who is the drummer with the Joe Satriani Band.

If a student is hesitant to take that first step into the world of music, Mullens offers reassurance.

We understand that people can feel intimidated - that this is a different language. But all of our people are so knowledgeable that we can be sure to get off on the right foot," he said.

Performance Music Center offers guitar rentals for those who want to try out an instrument. Also, each guitar purchased is inspected, turned and adjusted before it is sold.

"Our policy is to adjust the guitar for free as long as the person owns it, and we offer a complimentary first lesson explaining parts of the guitar and how to maintain it," Mullens said.

Students who live in the Woburn area but have never visited 405 Main Street, may be familiar with the Performance Music Center people as participants in the annual Woburn Lions Club Halloween Parade. Each year the center staff dress up, load their full sound system on to a flat bed trailer and treat parade goers to a performance with a special theme. Performance Music Center also supports church and school organizations throughout the city.

At Performance Music Center, students are one of the prime concerns, and the store has moved three times since opening in order to accommodate those wishing to learn.

Mullens lives in Wilmington with his wife Mary and two children, Jackie, eight and Michael, four. The store can be reached by calling 781-938-6411.

Multiple Sclerosis Practicing wellness course offered

WALTHAM - The Central New England Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society will hold a new six week Wellness Program entitled "Gateway to Wellness, A Course for Individuals with Multiple Sclerosis" beginning in October. The course is being offered at two locations, Hanover, MA and Waltham. The Hanover program will be held Tuesdays, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. beginning October 6. The Waltham program meets on Wednesdays, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. beginning October 7. Registration deadline is September 21. The fee for the six week program is $40, however no one will be denied due to an inability to pay.

The purpose of this program is to enhance the quality of life for individuals with multiple sclerosis by learning and practicing wellness and coping strategies. Each class includes exercise, discussion and education. Topics include: coping with fatigue, partnering with health care professionals, using community resources, coping with emotional issues, adapting home and work and more! For more information or to register call Martha Maynard at the National MS Society (508) 291-2169.

Apartments on Salem Street on fast track

WILMINGTON - It appears that the Town of Wilmington and Princeton Properties of Lowell are in the beginning stages of working toward the possibility of a 142 unit apartment complex being built on Salem Road.

The proposed housing will consist of approximately 1200 square foot, two story, one and two bedroom units. The buildings will be 10 to 14 unit buildings designed to look like large mansion style colonials. The common areas will provide amenities such as a club house and pool for the tenants. A percentage of the units will be available as "affordable" units according to the Massachusetts Housing Authority guidelines.

According to John Keeley, Assistant Director of Planning and Conservation, Princeton Properties requested that the Conservation Commission confirm some resource area delineation boundaries that had been flagged by an engineering firm representing Princeton. Such request required that abutters of the Salem Street property, located on the left side of Salem Street, traveling east, before Scaltrito Road, be notified of the Conservation Committee meeting that was held on August 19, 1998.

Concerned abutters attended the meeting voicing their opposition to this development, however the meeting was solely for the purpose of identifying the wetland and conservation areas on the 27 acre parcel. The Commission requested that Princeton ascertain three or four additional calculations regarding the exact location of existing wetland areas. According to Keeley, the project is in the beginning phases and no formal site plan has been submitted to the Town for approval at this time. There is a proposed site plan posted in the conservation commission office for reference purposes.

The property is currently owned by the heirs of the Leiter family. It seems that this property has been in and out of Probate for approximately the last 30 years. The owners of the property have in fact signed a purchase and sale agreement with Princeton Properties sometime in October of 1997.

"Massachusetts is in dire need of housing. As we see it (Princeton), we have two options, A. working hand in hand with the Town of Wilmington to develop this project and make it a win-win situation for everyone and option B. to work MHFA directly," said Chaban.

Apparently, financing for this project is being provided by Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency. Princeton has also made an application for "site approval," which will keep their options open. In the event there is no meeting of the minds with the Town and Princeton and the project is not approved, Princeton will then opt to work directly with MHFA and have the project developed.

A meeting set for September 2, 1998 at 7:45 p.m. will be for the purpose of submitting additional engineering, architectural and consultants reports and for the fine tuning of additional wetlands delineations.

SBA program

Welfare to Work could help employers and workers

BOSTON - The Boston District Office of the U.S. Small Business Administration has announced the arrival of its Welfare-to-Work Network pledge cards. Small businesses that wish to participate may do so by calling 617-565-5590, and ask that a pledge card be mailed to them, or one can join the SBA's Welfare-to-Work Network by visiting our website at www.sba.gov and complete a pledge card on-line.

The SBA is seeking to identify and assist businesses with hiring former welfare recipients. At a time when many businesses are facing a critical shortage of workers, a new, non-traditional source of employees is being discovered in communities across the country.

The SBA will connect small businesses with service providers who will provide training to, and support for, individuals leaving public assistance. In Massachusetts, Regional Employment Boards are prepared to work with small businesses and provide these businesses with job ready employees. Businesses and organizations that hire former welfare recipients receive a Welfare-to-Work federal tax credit that supplements 35 percent of the first $10,000 in wages in the first year of employment and 50 percent of the first $10,000 in the second year. The tax credit encourages both hiring and job retention. Other benefits are also available through the state of Massachusetts including job training.

"Involvement of the small business community is crucial, if welfare reform is to become a success," according to SBA New England Regional Administrator Patrick McGowan. "Small businesses are the job creation engine in our economy and they will make or break the welfare-to-work project."

If you have already hired individuals separated from or currently on public assistance, we would like to hear about your experiences and success stories; please contact Donna O'Connor, SBA's Massachusetts Welfare-to-Work Coordinator at 617-565-5607.

George E. Frotton founded Frotton Trucking in 1955

TEWKSBURY - George E. Frotton, Jr., 61, died unexpectedly Friday, August 21, 1998 at Saints Memorial Medical Center in Lowell. He was the husband of Patricia A. (Edson) Frotton, with whom he celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary February 1.

Born in Brighton on November 4, 1936, he was the son of Anna Mae (Bezanson) Frotton of Woburn and the late George E. Frotton, Sr., who died May 5, 1995. He was educated at St. Charles School in Woburn and graduated from Somerville Trade School.

A resident of Tewksbury since 1973, he was a communicant of St. William's Parish. He was also a resident of Gray, Maine and previously lived in Wilmington. Mr. Frotton was the founder and president of George E. Frotton Trucking, Inc. of Tewksbury which he established in 1955. He was also a Deputy Sheriff in Middlesex County.

Mr. Frotton was a former member and leader of the Tewksbury 4-H Horse Club and the Woburn Lodge of Elks. He enjoyed many interests and hobbies, especially traveling, boating, flying airplanes, country western music, John Wayne movies and his collection of antique trucks.

In addition to his wife and mother, he is survived by five sons and two daughters-in-law, Stephen J. and Christine (Levesque) Frotton of Lowell, Dennis P. Frotton of Tewksbury, Scott M. and Tammy (Joyce) Frotton of Dracut, William G. and Chris E. ## Cleanup planned for Mill Pond area

BURLINGTON - On Saturday, September 12, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. the Burlington Conservation Department will be hosting a cook-out and cleanup to celebrate the opening of a new trail at the Mill Pond Conservation Area. The trail will lead from the Mill Pond Conservation Area into Wilmington on land known as Camp Cummings, formerly owned by Boy Scouts of America.

A rain date is scheduled for the same time and same place the next day, Sunday, September 13. Free transportation to the Mill Pond Conservation Area will be provided by the B-Line from 11 p.m. to 1 p.m. The B-Line will be shuttling people to and from the Human Services Building parking lot on 61 Center Street, Burlington. Take your own work gloves.

For more information call the Burlington Conservation Department at (781) 270-1655.

Marriage encounter this fall

Are you looking for a way to rekindle the spark that brought you and your spouse together in the first place? The United Church of Christ Expression of Marriage Encounter will sponsor Marriage Encounter Weekends in New England again this fall, one in Manchester, N.H. Nov. 13-15, and in Meriden, Conn., Oct. 23-25 and another in Burlington, Mass. on March 12-14.

Hosted by three lay couples and a clergy couple, the weekend teaches communication tools and concepts that can benefit virtually all couples with basically good marriages. There is no group discussion, only presentations followed by a private time to grow closer to your spouse. What a gift to give each other!

To find out more about Marriage Encounter call Paul and Joyce Turner at 978-657-6488. Preregistration six weeks prior to weekend is recommended to avoid having to be put on a waiting list.

rooms," assured Merlino.

With the assistance of parent volunteers, staff members, the principal and the technology coordinator, Lee McCaune, Arsenault reported that they will wire the entire school to increase the technological capabilities. They will also continue to update information on the Web Page from the fall of 1998 to June 1999.

Arsenault stated that they want to align the school's curriculum standards with the state's curriculum frameworks. One of the action steps involved in the process is scheduling regular informal lunch meetings with the staff to continue to support this learning process pertaining to the frameworks.

Senior Topics

WILMINGTON - On June 19, 1998, the Boston Globe reported results of a recent survey conducted by AARP in five (5) areas of the country. AARP's objective was to learn how many seniors were well informed about the new Medicare choices which will be available as soon as next year. They found that even in these five areas which have high HMO participation, only 11 percent of seniors had enough knowledge about the upcoming options. What is Medicare C?

When Congress passed the Balanced Budget Act of 1998, many changes were made to the Medicare program. In addition to the traditional Medicare A hospital insurance and Medicare B medical insurance, a new Medicare C was designated. There is not a specific premium connected with Medicare C. It is actually just a description of an expanded list of insurances that seniors will be able to purchase to supplement traditional Medicare.

Up until now, seniors were only able to purchase a Medicare Supplement (Medigap plan) or Medicare HMO. When these other plans are finally written, reviewed, and made available to consumers, they will consist of:

Preferred Provider Organization (PPO) - A health plan in which a member's health care services are completely paid for if obtained from one of a select group of "preferred" providers identified by the plan, or partially paid if the service is obtained from an unaffiliated provider. (Note: Pre-approval of care from a provider outside the plan is often required.)

Provider-Sponsored Organization (PSOs) - Health plans that are cooperative efforts between hospitals and doctors, similar to HMOs except they are run by the providers, not insurance companies.

Private Fee-for-Service (FFS) - A method of payment under which providers are paid for each service performed.

Medical Savings Accounts (MSA) - Tax free contribution by Medicare, which are to be used for medical expenses. MSAs will not be available until November 1998.

Although these products may not actually be available until mid 1999, they expect that seniors will start to receive brochures and advertisements as early as the fall! The Health Care Financing Administration is developing a newsletter, handbook, and a toll free information number. Information will also be available on the Internet. The Massachusetts SHINE Health Benefits Counseling will be at the Senior Center in November to give updated information on the above. It is important to remember that seniors don't have to change their health insurance at all if they don't want to do so.

For our Social Calendar: Our next event is on Wednesday, September 30. A fall foliage day trip to Vermont with lunch at the Putney Summit Restaurant and Inn and a train ride aboard the Green Mountain Flyer. The cost is $30 per person (non refundable). The departure time is 9 a.m. and home approximately 7 p.m. The sign up date is Wednesday, September 2, 1998 at 10 a.m.

Also on Tuesday, September 1 at 10 a.m. we will be having our first committee meeting for our Antique Road Show/Flea Market. Volunteers are needed. Fun will be a requirement.

Senior Menus

Wilmington seniors

Week of September 1

Tuesday: Franks and beans, seasoned carrots, dinner roll and butter, chilled apricots, milk/dessert. Wednesday: Country breaded pork chops, fluffy rice, seasoned spinach, wheat bread and butter, chilled fruit, milk, dessert.

Thursday: Oven baked fish dinner with tartar sauce on the side, creamy whipped potato, seasoned peas and carrots, dinner roll and butter, Jello with topping and milk.

Friday: No school, no lunches served.

Minutemen menu

Week of August 31

Served at Veterans' Memorial Center, 144 School Street, No. Woburn. Call 781-935-2239.

Monday: Beef strip, gravy, red bliss potato, broccoli, whole wheat bread, chilled fruit, milk.

Tuesday: Vegetable kale soup, chef salad, Italian dressing, crusty roll, pudding, milk.

Wednesday: Ziti with meat sauce, cheese, Italian green beans, scallion bread, fresh fruit, milk.

Thursday: Lemon pepper fish, au gratin potatoes, zucchini and tomatoes, rye bread, oatmeal cookie, milk. Alt., Chicken patty.

Friday: Breaded chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, carrots, cranberry sauce, oatmeal bread, applesauce, milk.

If you've been experiencing difficulties getting through North Wilmington recently, rest assured it will continue. The hole here is the hold up. They are still digging to put in a new sewer for the apartments going in on Ballardvale. This is sure to reek havoc with the school buses. But be warned, your home room teacher won't buy that excuse any more than "The dog ate my homework." (Joe Hakey photo)

Grants available for historic sites

BOSTON - William Francis Galvin, Secretary of the Commonwealth and Chairman of the Massachusetts Historical Commission, has announced the availability of grant money through the Massachusetts Preservation Projects Fund (MPPF), which assists the preservation of municipally owned and private non-profit historic properties, sites and landscapes.

"This is the fifth year that the Massachusetts Historical Commission (MHC) has been able to offer funding for historic properties. Preserving the heritage of the Commonwealth is an important goal of the MHC, and MPPF grant money has proven to be of valuable assistance to many historic resources in distress," said Secretary Galvin.

The Massachusetts Preservation Projects Fund is designed to benefit State Register properties in public and non-profit use. Applications for this round of funding are now available with a due date of October 16, 1998. Applications may be obtained from the Massachusetts Historical Commission, 220 Morrissey Blvd., Boston, MA 02125, (617) 727-8470.

An informational meeting regarding the Mass. Preservation Projects Fund will be held September 8, 1998 from 3 to 5 p.m. at the State Archives Building, 220 Boulevard, Boston, MA.

"Safety Net" provides information on child health needs

WINCHESTER - Winchester Hospital, the Woburn Council for Social Concerns Hispanic Program, Somerville/Cambridge Women, Infant and Children Inc. (WIC), and the Massachusetts Prevention Center in Framingham have teamed together to sponsor Safety net parties. The Safety Net Parties provide information about childhood immunizations health access, and nutrition to residents of Woburn and surrounding communities.

Recently in Woburn, representatives from all the sponsoring organizations were on hand to provide parents with information on health issues concerning their children. Other organizations participating include head Start, the Department of Public Health and Alewife Brook Community Pediatrics of Arlington. Dr. Mary Colpoys, a pediatrician, discussed health insurance options for families who are not currently insured or are under insured.

There are three more Safety Net Parties planned in the coming months. Dates and times will be announced later. For more information about the Safety Net Program call Fraelean Curtis, Community Prevention Specialist, at the Prevention Center (508) 875-5419 ext. 32.

Arthritis Pain Mystery Solved

Horse Liniment is the secret!

OCALA, FL. -- An ingredient used to treat inflammation in thoroughbred racehorse legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Scientists suggest that ARTH-Rx works by intercepting the pain messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain. Although the mechanism is not totally clear, pain is relieved in the affected area because the pain signal actually disappears.

ARTH-Rx is the only product on the market with Neurocaine and is available in a convenient, pleasant scented roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, ARTH-Rx is available in pharmacies, nutrition stores, and even some feed stores. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 1997 PGC

Would you like to be voicing your opinions?

Maybe I should take this as a hint, but in case you haven't seen our ads, the Town Crier is still looking for a few correspondents to help out in the sports department starting in a few weeks when high school sports are back.

There are plenty of new ideas, stories and lay-outs upcoming beginning next month and we need some help on it. Whether you are a student, or a parent who attends some of the athletic events in Wilmington and Tewksbury and would like to write one story a week on that team, then this would be perfect for you.

Or maybe you are a parent of a Shawsheen Tech athlete and would like to write a round-up column every week of the Rams' sports? Or maybe a student would like to write a round-up column every week on the sub varsity teams?

As of right now there are several high school teams who need coverage, as well as many, many other ideas of other events and stories to be covered and we'd love to have you work with us. Really, I'm not that bad of a guy.

So if you're a parent, a student at WHS or a colleg student trying to earn a few bucks for minimal hours, give me, Jamie Pote, a call here at 658-2346.

Season begins Sept. 12 Pop Warner numbers bigger than ever

BY JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

In just a few more weeks, the first games of another Pop Warner season will be played, and this year alone there are more kids participating than ever.

The season will begin on Sept. 12 with six teams in action as well as six different cheerleading teams as well. The Mighty Mites, 7-9 year olds, alone have 100 combined players and cheerleaders making up two different teams, while, 200 other players and cheerleaders combine for teams A through D.

There is a lot of new blood in the system this year. Former Vice President Ken Redmond takes over for Dom Ritucci as the League President. Ritucci will take a break for a bit and serve as one of twenty members on the board of directors, who are also at its maximum of people this year.

As for Redmond, he has been involved in one way or another since 1991 and he has never had a son play football. Rather, he stood on the sidelines doing the chains during the games, while his two daughters were cheerleaders. They are out and he now he is running the show, much like Ritucci after his kids left playing football. Redmond also is the Scholastic Co-Ordinator of Eastern Mass, as well as the New England Chairperson for the Punt/Pass/Kick competition.

Besides Redmond, Rich DeLucia takes over for Bobby Gillis as the Athletic Director, mostly in charge of equipment. Micky Moroney and his wife, Pat are the Vice President and Treasurer, respectively, while, Dawn Nims is the Secretary.

As for the coaches, this program is very blessed. Many former WHS players and cheerleaders continue to volunteer their time. Besides DeLucia, Tom Aprile is the head coach of the A team, while former running back Steve O'Neill has the B Team under his wings. Moroney has the C Team and Mike Alonardo Sr. has the D Team. DeLucia's brother, Mike has the E Blue Team and Mike Clark has the E White Team.

The cheerleaders on the other hand, has Karen Clark as its coordinator. The coaches in order are: Jen O'Neill (A Team); Dori Gordon and Amy Laffin (B Team); Megan Sullivan and Victoria Badalato (C Team); Ann Gish and Tricia Welch (D Team); Nicole DeBloise and Katie Beaudin (E White Team) and finally, Kim Redmond and Lyndsay Gauthier (E Blue Team).

Mighty Mite White Team gearing up for season

BY JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

When they took their helmets off, sweat was pouring down their faces. Their white jerseys were covered in dirt and filth. They took a knee and gathered in a circle. They just finished a few sprints after 20 minutes of 1-on-1 tackling on a very humid night at the Glen Road School.

This group of Wilmington Pop Warner "Mighty Mite" E White football players are just seven, eight and nine years old or better yet second, third and fourth graders. They hit like seventh or eighth graders, carry the ball like they have been doing it all of their lives and of course, naturally, this group of enthused, energetic and witty kids never stopped smiling.

And they are primed for a season to go all the way.

Running around with their little feet, little bodies and big helmets flopping around, you couldn't help but to smile with these guys. To some, it was the start of something new, football that is, and to some others, they were seasoned veterans.

Thus far the team is 2-0 in scrimmages as they said "killing Medway and Lowell" and when asked how the team would fare they all gave out a vociferous cheer replying "all the way".

Although head coach Mike Clark really hasn't given out the positions, all of them had their own positions that they wanted to play. Out of the 14 players at practice, there were only two quarterbacks and two running backs - and not 14 of them.

On the comical side, several of the players wanted to be a tailback, a safety, a right tackle, a nose guard, several centers, linebackers and of course, a left end. Not only talented and funny, but very smart players too. How many seven-year-olds have heard of a tailback, nevermind, wanting to play that position?

The oldest player on the team is Shawn Fahey who stands in at 9.5 years. He is a running back with his favorite professional players being former Patriot Curtis Martin and current Patriot receiver Terry Glenn. But his favorite team is the Broncos, because "they won it all." Shawn's brother, Zack, is a linebacker sporting the number 18. The two brothers say they get along, except that Zack likes Terry Glenn "better."

Speaking of brothers, Jonathan and Matthew Kincaid also get a chance to tackle one another as does Danny and Ryan McCarthy. Jonathan, 8, wants to be a nose tackle because he loves to hit people, while, his younger brother, a second grader at the Woburn Street School, wants to be the quarterback. The McCarthy duo certainly add a few laughs to the team as the younger one, Ryan, brings toughness and energy to the team as a safety. Danny, on the other hand, is 8.5 and has the distinction of wanting to play left end.

Besides Matthew Kincaid, Nicholas Clark, 8, also likes to play quarterback as he has thrown two touchdown passes already in the two preseason scrimmages. His teammates says he has a very good arm, and one of those who witnessed that was seven-year-old Anthony Morlani who caught a TD pass from his teammate. Both Clark and Kincaid seem to have a lot of protection. Jimmy Celest, 9, says he doesn't get any free lunches as of yet from either Kincaid or Clark for holding off the opposition, while, Scott Dacko, also wants to hut the ball, as he will turn nine years old in less than a week.

Also wanting to give the quarterbacks some protection on the line is Shawn Cosby, 7, who stands at the right tackle position. His favorite player is Drew Bledsoe because he is a "good quarterback."

Steven Dunnett, 7, says he doesn't care where he plays as long as he gets a chance "to kick butt," while, the team seems to have their linebackers all set with Victor Annunziata, a second grader at the Wildwood School and Mike Cabral on his side along with Zack Fahey. Cabral predicts that the Patriots will win the Super Bowl.

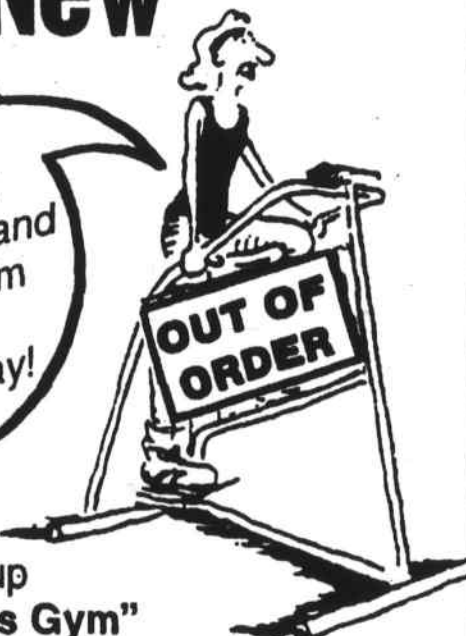

Inbetween all of the predictions and positions, this team seems destined to make several big tackles, while their little steps find the way to the end zone. Regardless, these little troopsters are certainly what makes Pop Warner so unique with their fresh style of play and enthusiasm.

Good luck guys (also to those players on the team who were not at practice or who had left early).

Injury on field

Player okay

BY JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

On Monday night there were several scares down at the Glen Road School during Pop Warner practice. Within 15 minutes of one another, Wilmington paramedics, EMT's and police officers responded twice.

The first call was an older gentleman who had fainted due to the hot weather, and the second one was a much bigger scare. Chuck Courtois, of the B Team, had suffered a pretty good neck injury and after laying motionless on the ground for a few minutes he was taken to the Winchester Hospital and released a few hours later. According to his father, Chuck Sr., his son should have no problems, with all of his feelings back and a collar on his aching neck. The doctors have said for him to rest for about a week without a contact after his CATSCAN was found negative.

During a drill called the "Oklahoma" that is a scramble of finding a loose ball and making a tackle, Chuck and his teammate connected on a very intense hit and accidentally collided heads, which caused the pain to Chuck's neck. He then rolled to his side and coaches then noticed that he was motionless and called the ambulance who responded very quickly after exiting the field a few minutes prior.

"It's funny because I'm always down at the field and I was just on my way down to the field after making dinner when I received the phone call," Chuck Sr., explained.

"I have to thank many people, for what I understand many people responded to him right away and doing the right thing to make sure everything was covered.

"They called me and told me to meet them at the hospital and that everything was fine. I had another son there as well and they took him away and made sure he was fine after shedding some tears. When arrived at the hospital, his three coaches met me at the door. They wouldn't leave until Chuck did, and really can't thank Rich DeLucia, Steve O'Neill and Scott Winn enough.

"And I can't thank all of the people who helped out too like Steve Layton and all of the people who were concerned and called us. It was one of those things and thankfully everything is fine," he continued.

Boosters meeting

The Wilmington Athletic Boosters Association is gearing up for the 1998-99 school year.

The first meeting of the year is scheduled for Tuesday, September 8 beginning at 7 p.m. at the high school. Regular monthly meetings are scheduled the first Tuesday of each month.

The main order of business at the September meeting will be to set the schedule for the concession stand at the varsity football games.

This year looks to be very active with the large following of the Cape Ann League schools being capped off with the Thanksgiving Day game against long time rival Tewksbury being played at Alumni Field.

Through the fund raising efforts of the Boosters Association, 12 Wilmington High School seniors were the proud recipients of scholarships this past May.

The Boosters Association welcomes new (and former) members. If you are interested in helping out by contributing a small amount of time, please plan to attend the September 8 meeting.

If you are unable to attend the meeting, but would like to assist the Boosters, please call Dave Carroll at 657-6457.

Players classic

The 17th annual Players Classic will be held September 4-7 at Clegg Field, Warwick, Rhode Island.

This will be a double elimination tournament; entry fee, $150.00; 1998 NSA rules apply/open classification.

Three home run per game, per team, first, second third place team awards; MVP award.

Monday was a busy night at the Glen Road School with many kids gearing up for another season. All of the football teams were busy working on their skills to get ready for the opener as were the cheerleaders. (Photos by Joe Hakey).

Drug testing policy turned down School committee did right thing

BY JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Last week the Wilmington School Committee once again turned down the notion that students, in particular student-athletes, will be drug tested in the future, according to their vote. Not having them go through that was the right thing to do in my opinion.

A few years back, I wrote an editorial on this same subject. I said back then that schools really shouldn't have to go to that level, but if they were to do that, then all students should be tested, not just those who play sports. I said that because at the time I knew of many student-athletes who were using drugs and I figured that would be one way to stop them from doing so. The former editor of this newspaper and my close friend, Jeff Nazzaro, also voiced his opinion on the matter in the same newspaper, and he was totally against the idea, saying random drug testing was totally wrong and immoral.

Now I have changed my mind, looking back and thinking that maybe Jeff was right. I commend the Wilmington School Committee for what they have done. For myself, I never disagreed with the school committee because at the time I said that all students should be tested not just athletes and that's what they said then and now. Right now though, I do believe, no matter the problems in schools, that random drug testing is wrong ...

...Speaking of Wilmington, if you all thought last year was something, wait 'til this year. Last year the boys soccer, football, field hockey, golf, volleyball and girls soccer teams all enjoyed fine seasons during the fall, while, the boys basketball and hockey teams did well in the winter and who could forget the baseball team and then the softball team in the spring? Well this year, the early predictions has the football, boys and girls soccer teams and the golf team all fighting for the top spots in their respective divisions and then some. This could be the year for all three and I'm blessed since I'm going to cover three of those four teams ...

...A few comings and goings happened this week. I found out that Pat O'Toole, the former WHS football player, will be one of the coaches this year for the freshman team. Congratulations Pat. I also found out that the WHS Football team voted on captains and Mike Gennetti, Kevin Finnerty and Dave DeAmato all were honored. In all sincerity, the team couldn't have picked three better kids to fit that role. Congratulations guys. I haven't really found out any of the other captains of the other teams, so to those I haven't mentioned, congratulations to you too ...

...The going has Wilmington Little League President Scott Winn stepping down after his two-year stint. As a Little League Coach in Wilmington, there was a time when I didn't agree with Scott, but of course that's life and people don't agree with everyone. But in the end, I would like to say that anyone who volunteers their time like that to such a magnitude certainly deserves a pat on the back and Scott Winn certainly deserves that. Although I had that one disagreement with him, Scott did a lot for little league and the kids, especially getting their names in this paper every week. For that he should be commended ...

...As for Tewksbury, things have been real slow lately but I can't wait for this weekend's girls softball tournament. This tourney is always huge and always a lot of fun. I can't wait and good luck to the Tewksbury 16 and unders, 14 and unders, 12 and unders and 10 and unders teams ...

...Finally I would like to turn to the professional level for a minute. The Red Sox. They are having a tremendous season and I have enjoyed watching them immensely. They should win the wildcard and go to the playoffs. But here's the problem: if they get by the first round beating the Indians or the Angels or Rangers, and play the Yankees in the second round, everyone is talking as if it could be a cakewalk past them with Pedro pitching three times. Can I say one thing? The Red Sox might have the upper hand with Pedro against David Cone, but don't forget Pedro would pitch twice in Yankee Stadium, but the Yankees have the upper hand with David Wells, Andy Pettite and Orlando Hernandez over Tim Wakefield, Bret Saberhagen and possibly Steve Avery for a game. I don't think it would be a cakewalk. Possible? Absolutely. Baseball, yes you never know.

HOW DO FED RATE HIKES AFFECT MORTGAGE RATES?

The Fed Open Market Committee (FOMC), the Federal Reserve's decision-making body, meets every other month to consider U.S. interest rate policy. The FOMC is chaired by the Federal Reserve Chairman, currently Alan Greenspan. Most people assume that when the FOMC raises rates, mortgage rates go up. But this is not necessarily true.

Mortgage rates are set not by the FOMC but by private investors. These investors, which might include you if you invest in mortgage-backed securities, are looking for a reasonable return on a long-term investment. Mortgage-backed securities generally meet those criteria, but so do U.S. Treasury bonds. To the extent mortgage-backed securities are a better investment than bonds at any given time, investors will put their money in mortgages.

When the FOMC raises rates, mortgage and bond investors often view such moves as preemptive strikes against the threat of future inflation. The investors then bid up the securities' prices and cause the yields on those investments to go down (lower yields are still attractive if low long-term inflation is expected). So a rate hike by the Fed is at least as likely to lead to lower mortgage rates as to higher ones.

Hunter Education Certificate provided for teens

A Massachusetts Hunter Education Certificate is provided to course graduates 15 years or older. Students, ages 10-14, may participate and receive a "letter of Completion" to meet out-of-state licensing requirements.

Parental permission is required of all students under 18 years of age. Students must attend every session. Adults, as well as younger men and women, are encouraged to attend.

Each year volunteer instructors and Massachusetts Environmental Police Officers hold over 100 hunter education courses throughout the state. The state certificate issued at these classes serves two legal purposes. First, this card allows young men and women between 15 and 17 years old to hunt alone on their first Massachusetts hunting license. Secondly, the certificate is necessary for either adults or minors to purchase a hunting license in all U.S. States and Canadian provinces.

As of January 1, 1997 hunter education is mandatory for all first time license buyers in Massachusetts. Many experienced hunters participate to qualify out-of-state licenses.

For additional information on courses, write Hunter Education, P.O. Box 408, Westminster, MA 01473-0408 or call the bureau office at (508) 792-7434.

A psychology major, Susan is a sophomore at Syracuse and a 1996 graduate of Wilmington High School.

Timothy Bolton at Sheppard Air Force Base

TEWKSBURY - Air Force Airman Timothy C. Bolton, son of Linda and Leonard F. Bolton of Pinnacle Street, Tewksbury, has graduated from the heating, ventilation, air conditioning and refrigeration apprenticeship course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Students were taught fundamentals of repairing, troubleshooting, operation and maintenance of the above mentioned systems and their components.

Airman Bolton is a 1997 graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Paige Heller on dean's list

WILMINGTON - Paige L. Heller of Wilmington has been named to the dean's list at Bates College as a result of her scholastic standing during the second semester of the 1997-98 school year.

Paige, a junior geology and physics major, is the daughter of Frederick and Karin Heller of Middlesex Avenue. Captain of the women's Alpine ski team in 1997-98, she spent Short Term 1997 in Hawaii and completed summer research with John Creasy, professor of geology. She is a 1995 graduate of Phillips Academy.

Dean's list at Providence College

PROVIDENCE, R.I. - Seven area residents, five from Wilmington and two from Tewksbury, have been named to the dean's list at Providence College for the spring semester. To achieve dean's list status, a student must attain a 3.250 or higher grade point average on a 4.0 scale, with no grade lower than a "C."

They include, Nicole Sordillo, Andover Street; Jill Weed, Cunningham Street; Chris DiJulia, Scaltrito Drive; Robert Torrani, Douglas Avenue and Jennifer Carroll, Lucaya Circle, all of Wilmington and Tewksbury residents Amy St. Jean, Heather Row, and Gretchen Hummrich, Karen Lee Lane.

Mark D. Ricci serving in Mediterranean

TEWKSBURY - Marine Lance Cpl. Mark D. Ricci, son of Joyce M. Ricci of Tewksbury, recently completed a five month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Arabian Gulf with the 26th Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU), embarked aboard the ships of the USS Wasp Amphibious Ready Group (ARG).

Ricci was one of more than 2,000 Marines who departed Camp Lejeune, N.C., in February with the ARG that also consisted of the amphibious assault ship and flag-ship USS Wasp, the amphibious transport dock USS Trenton and the dock landing ship USS Portland.

During the deployment, Ricci's unit participated in Dynamic Response, a multinational exercise off Bosnia-Herzegovina designed to test the strength of naval expeditionary forces in rapidly deploying as strategic forces to support NATO's Stabilization force in Bosnia-Herzegovina. Ricci and fellow Marines also participated in Exercise Determined Falcon, a multinational exercise involving 13 NATO countries.

Ricci and fellow Marines also had the opportunity to visit Greece, Italy, Spain, Tunisia and Turkey.

Ricci's unit is an expeditionary intervention force with the ability to rapidly organize for combat operations in virtually any environment. MEUs are composed of more than 2,000 personnel and are divided into an infantry battalion, an aircraft squadron, a support group and a command element. With the combination of these teams, Ricci's unit supplies and sustains itself for either quick mission accomplishment or clearing the way for follow-on forces.

Lance Cpl. Ricci joined the Marines in January, 1995.

Wesley Dunham working in Washington

WILMINGTON - Wesley Dunham, son of Lorna and James Dunham, Lawrence Street, Wilmington, is working at Berenson Productions Inc., of Washington D.C., this fall through the Field Experience Program at UMass, Amherst.

Dunham will be assisting with public relations, media training, and production as a production assistant. He hopes to explore the field of political public relations or political fundraising in the future, and feels this will provide him with good experience.

"We have found over the years that co-op and internship placements are extremely beneficial for both the employer and the students," says Jeffrey Silver, associate director of the Field Experience Program at the University's Campus Career Network. "Employers gain enthusiastic short term employees who bring new ideas and concepts with them. Students, in turn, gain first-hand knowledge of the world of work and build upon their education at the University."

Dunham is a member of the Class of 1999 majoring in communication at the University, where he is the recipient of a 1998 Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) Student Scholarship Award. He graduated from Wilmington High School in 1995.

ber of the Class of 2000 majoring in communications at Norwich University, Northfield, Vermont.

Burke serving at Aberdeen with Marines

WILMINGTON - Marine Pvt. Robert J. Burke, son of Robert T. and Janice A. Burke of Clinton St., Wilmington, recently reported for duty with Marine Corps Detachment, U.S. Army Ordnance Center and School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Burke's rotation to a new duty station exemplifies the worldwide assignability of Marines and Sailors. This flexibility allows our naval forces to protect U.S. national interests by serving as the principal enforcers of peacetime engagement, deterrence and crisis response around the world.

The 1997 graduate of Wilmington High School joined the Marine Corps in June, 1997.

Regis College

WILMINGTON - Five Wilmington students have been named to the dean's list at Regis College for the spring semester.

Wildwood School students help raise $750.00

Throughout the school year, the students of the Wildwood Elementary School in Wilmington have been busy eating General Mills cereals, snacks and yogurt in an effort to turn package box tops into cash with a nationwide program called Big G Box Tops for Education.

The program was created by General Mills to help K-6 public, private, parochial and military schools raise money to purchase items that are not covered by shrinking school budgets. Over the past three years, schools across the nation have raised funds for everything from art supplies to playground equipment to special programs to electric fans for each classroom. General Mills Corporation pays 10 cents for each participating cereal box top and 10 cents for every participating snacks and Yoplait Yogurt multipack products box top turned in by the schools each month.

As a result of the efforts of students, their families and the many people of Wilmington, Wildwood School has raised $750.00 for technology, enrichment programs and homework organizers for grades three, four and five. Principal Robert Arsenault says Big G Box Tops for Education has been a rewarding program for the Wildwood School in more ways than one. Not only were we able to raise $750.00 for our school, but we enjoyed the partnership of people working together to help our children. Mrs. Angela Melkonian, Big G Box Top Coordinator and parent of a second grader, expressed a big thank you to Market Basket and Lucci's Supermarkets and Rocco's Restaurant for allowing us to place Big G Box Tops collection boxes at their exits. A special thank you to the customers and store employees who dropped off their box tops.

As an incentive to collect the box tops, Mrs. Melkonian developed a competition between the individual classrooms to see which classroom could collect the most General Mills Box Tops. The winning classroom would win a pizza party donated by Papa Ginos of Wilmington. Each month the box tops were counted and the large bar graph at the entrance of the Wildwood School was updated. Then there would be a drawing and the winning student received a gift certificate donated by one of our local restaurants.

Wildwood School would like to thank Royal Dynasty, Rocco's and Stelio's Restaurants of Wilmington; The Fish House of Burlington, and Pizzeria Uno and The 99 restaurants of Woburn for their support and generosity to our school.

Our program came to an exciting end this spring when Miss Kelly and Mrs. LaBossiere's fourth grade class won the Papa Gino's pizza party with a total of 544 Big G box tops! The children worked hard as a class project to achieve their goal of the most box tops and the winner of the pizza party. Thank you Papa Gino's for your continued support of Wildwood School. All the children of the school received an ice cream donated by the school PAC for their hard work and contribution to the school.

On behalf of the school administration, teachers, staff, students and families, Mr. Arsenault wishes to extend a sincere thank you to the entire community and the generosity of General Mills for helping to fulfill the many needs of the Wildwood School of Wilmington.

Homework Tips!

WILMINGTON - The public library staff welcomes students and teachers back to school. Librarians suggest the following tips to help students with school assignments that require using the public library:

1. State your assignment early. Other students may be looking for the same material you need.

2. Take a copy of your assignment to the library. If the teacher does not provide a printed copy of the assignment, write down the assignment in class.

3. If you can't find what you need, go to the reference desk and ask the librarian for help.

4. If you can't find a book on your topic, the librarian can help you find information in other resources such as: encyclopedias, newspapers, magazines, and the Internet.

5. Remember to take your library card.

6. Take a pen or pencil and paper or note cards.

7. Take money for the photocopy machine. Reference books and books on desk reserve cannot be borrowed. You may need to make a copy of the information in these books.

If the computer catalog shows that the book you need is in another library, you can fill out the request card and the book will be sent to our library. If you need the book yesterday, inform the librarian. It usually takes seven days or longer for your book to arrive. The librarian can call the library that owns the book and have it held for you and you can go to there and check it out.

New library hours

As school begins, we are pleased to announce that beginning Monday, August 31 the library will be open until 9 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Additional evening hours give students better access to the library collection and services.

The library will close as usual at 5 p.m. on Fridays. Saturday hours (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) will resume on Saturday, September 12. The library will be closed Monday, September 7 in the observation of Labor Day.

Fall story hour registration

Registration for the library's popular preschool story hour program will begin on Monday, August 31. You may call the library at 658-2967 to register for one of the following sessions which begin on September 16 and run until October 23:

Three-year olds, Wednesday, 9:30 to 10 p.m. or Friday, 10 to 10:30 a.m.

Four and five year olds (not in kindergarten) Wednesday, 10:30 to 11 a.m. or Thursday, 1:30 to 2 p.m.

Pre-school story time sessions introduce young children to the library and the world of reading. As children enjoy hearing the librarian read a story, they begin to develop such skills as listening, thinking and relating ideas. If you have any questions about these story hour sessions, please feel free to talk with Children's Librarian Susan MacDonald.

Lucky readers

Congratulations to the "Lucky Readers of the Week" - Erica Savage, Andrew Volpe, Colleen Kennedy, James Marra, Ronald DiTullio, Kayla Morse and Melissa O'Donoghue. The winning "detectives" this week were Jocelyn Christopher, Ryan Breslin, Jennifer Fitzgerald, Kate Stevenson, and Monica Folk.

Books to the homebound

The Friends of the library volunteers are now delivering books to five Wilmington residents who are homebound. If you are permanently or temporarily homebound and are interested in the Homebound service, please contact Circulation Librarian, Linda Callahan at 658-2967 to receive a brochure and application.

IN THE ATLANTIC, Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico hurricane development starts in June. With the peak season for the United States being mid-August to late October. Developing hurricanes gather heat and energy through contact with warm ocean waters. The addition of moisture by evaporation from the sea surface powers them like giant heat engines. ## Bonnie and other 'Canes'

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Bonnie has a lot of eyes on her as she makes her trip over the ocean.

This is not a lass from Scotland, nor is she from any other land. The Bonnie that is being watched and talked about is a Category Three Hurricane that is presently threatening the coast of North and South Carolina and may find its way to the coast of New England before the week is out.

Winchester resident Edward S. Fratto, executive director of the Wakefield based Northeast States Emergency Consortium (NESEC), said, "This is the first (hurricane) that has come on the screen (this season)."

He added, "The main thing now is to monitor it."

According to Fratto, Bonnie is being very fickle at this point. "This hurricane, we really do not know where it will go at this point," Fratto said.

As of press time yesterday, the latest predictions were that Bonnie was starting to speed up its forward motion and might touch shore in the Cape Hatteras, North Carolina area.

However, storm warnings were up for South Carolina and Virginia also. The southern New England coastline had high surf warnings due to the ocean action from Bonnie.

Ironically, the weather in North and South Carolina was sunny and only slightly breezy on Monday as those states prepared for the storm and the weather in the Greater Boston area has been humid and stormy.

Although Bonnie has winds of 115 miles-per-hour with gusts of up to 140 m.p.h., the Category Three storm is not the worst to hit the United States, or even Folks, there must be many beneficial qualities in being a Vegetarian. I shook hands with, "Killer Kowalski" (the great wrestler), who claims that he's never eaten Meat, Fish or Fowl. He looks to me that he could hold back the whole, "Green Bay Packers Football Team" with one hand.

In the wrestling ring, Killer is an actor, playing the part of a raging Bull. In every day life he is, "Walter Kowalski," of Stoneham, gentle as a lamb. You or I could see him sitting beside us one Sunday morning. He is kind, friendly and gregarious person. I am proud to call, Walter "Killer" Kowalski, "My Friend."

The Irish are noted for their "WIT", Ballads, "Patience" and Fortitude" in adversities.

The Scots are known for their, "Thrift", "Colorful Kilts", Bagpipes" and beautiful complexions.

The Italians, are world renowned for their, "Music," "Artists", Sculptors", and "La Dolce Vita" way of life.

The French, English, Swedes, Germans, Austrians, Russians, Chinese, Japanese and the people of all the countries of the world, have particular traits and customs that are associated with their countries.

Any baker can tell you, that EACH and EVERY ingredient is important in making exquisite, bread, cakes, pies and pasties. We are indeed fortunate here in America, to have a representatives from almost every country of the world who, along with our native Indians make, America, the GREATEST Nation in the world.

Paul Simon asked an American Indian coming out of a, Red Cross Bloodmobile, "Sir, are you a FULL blooded Indian?" "No", he replied, "I'm ONE Pint" Short."

A man shouted in a crowded bank, "Did anyone drop a roll of bills with a rubber band around it?" Blackie Vega, Dennis Tully and Tony Zankowski said that they did. "Good," the Samaritan shouted, "here's the, "RUBBER

Band!"

King Kong's love song, "GIRL-RELLA" of my DREAMS!"

Kathy and I went out to dinner. she ordered steak and I ordered a lobster. Her steak was wonderful but my lobster wasn't. I called the waiter back and asked, "why did you bring me a lobster that has one claw missing?" "It was in a fight sir." "Well," I asked, "why didn't you bring me the WINNER?" The waiter smiled and replied, "The cook told me to bring it to you, another LOSER!"

Whidden Golf Tourney

Whidden Memorial Hospital's sixth annual Golf Fundraising Tournament will be held on Thursday, September 10, at Sky Meadow Country Club in Nashua, New Hampshire.

The tournament will kick off with a barbecue lunch, followed by 18 holes of golf with cart, a reception and buffet dinner. Raffle prizes and an auction will round off the event.

More than $130,000 has been raised through the golf tournament to benefit services and programs at Whidden Memorial Hospital.

This year, monies raised will be used to upgrade the hospital's Williams Auditorium, a conference room hosting ongoing community health education and screening events.

Over the years, Whidden Memorial Hospital has received tremendous support from local businesses who have sponsored and participated in this event. Sponsorship opportunities are still available and include sponsorships of tees, greens, yard markers, golf carts, and reception. The tournament roster is filling up, so if interested in playing, register as soon as possible. Cost to play in the tournament is $150 per player.

For further information on how to donate a prize or play in the tournament, call the Whidden Memorial Hospital Office of Philanthropy at (781) 979-3514.

SENIORS HAVE THEIR DAY - Diane Doherty and her daughter, Kerri, of Lynnfield, serve a plate of food for Christine Muse of Wakefield (l) during the 22nd annual Senior Citizen Picnic on Saturday at the Wakefield Elks. ## Depression and drug use warning signs

Because a preteen or teen is not quite a child and not quite an adult, they feel isolated and powerless in a world that wants them to grow up and excel! All of these worries, along with the amplified physical and emotional changes of adolescence, cause many teens to experience depression and turn to drugs. Many of these signs or symptoms overlap.

If you are seeing a cluster of signs, and they are more than just normal adolescence, seek out professional help.

Indicators of depression include any combination of several of the following signs, extending over a period of three weeks or longer:

- A radical and otherwise unexplained personality change
- Consistently sleeping more or less than usual

- Repeated attempts to run away
- Frequent and lengthy bouts of anger or violent behavior
- Chronic boredom
- Ongoing inability to concentrate, pay attention, or think clearly
- Loss of interest in activities formerly enjoyed
- Self-punishing behaviors such as bingeing on food, starving, self-mutilation etc.
- Withdrawing from family and friends
- Abusing drugs
- Sexual promiscuity

What to Do
Depression is treatable! If you believe your teen is depressed arrange to have him seen by a professional. Spend a lot more time with him. It could be just sitting in his room and really listening or trying some new activity of his choosing together, whether you think you would enjoy it or not.

Some General Signs of Possible Drug Use in Teens

- Sudden unexplained changes in mood or behavior
- Loss of interest in regular activities
- Significant drop in grades
- Withdrawal from family
- Sudden sloppiness in appearance
- Unusual secrecy
- Decreased energy and drive
- Slurred speech, unclear

thinking, poor short-term memory

- Change in eating or sleeping habits
- Sudden change in friends

What to Do
Symptoms of drug use should be confronted and dealt with quickly and persistently using the four steps for turning over responsibility in the Help! I Have a Teenager program. Free time must be supervised or spent with the family. Treatment programs can be accessed in the front of your yellow pages.

Hospice needs volunteers

Hospice Care, Inc. is a non-profit organization serving patients with life-limiting illness and their families. Hospice volunteers perform a vital role in augmenting hospice services by providing companionship to patients, respite time for family members, or help with errands.

Volunteers come from diverse backgrounds and range in age from their 20's to their 80's. Their common bond is a desire to share their time and compassion with others. A strong need exists for daytime volunteers, but help is also needed during evenings and weekends.

Volunteers, to help out in the office as needed as well.

Hospice Care, Inc. will provide training and ongoing support. The next training session will begin on Saturday, September 26.

For more information, please call Volunteer Coordinator Linda Wolfson at 781-279-4100.

New England.

Fratto said, "New England hasn't been hit by a real damaging hurricane since 1938."

The hurricane of 1938 came as far north as central New Hampshire and inland as far west as Vermont. Fratto said the storm was classified as a Category Four of Five.

"When a real hurricane hits," Fratto said, "you will get impacted with a huge storm surge carrying buildings and people with it."

The inland motion of the 1938 storm served to remind people in this area of the wind damage that can be done to inland areas by a hurricane.

The hurricane categories are based on the Saffir-Simpson Hurricane Scale and start with Category One, which is a tropical storm that has reached a wind speed of 74 m.p.h. but not more than 95 m.p.h. At this speed a Category One storm would cause minimal damage.

Category Two is between 96 and 110 m.p.h., causing moderate damage; Category Three is between 111 and 130 m.p.h. and can cause extensive damage; Category Four is 131 to 155 m.p.h. and causes extensive damage; and Category Five is anything over 155 m.p.h. and would be catastrophic.

However, at Category Three Fratto warns that people should be thinking about taking precautions in case Bonnie kisses our shores. Those precautions might include stocking up on food and water.

"Don't go out and stock up on perishable items," Fratto advised. "You could have your refrigerator full of food and then lose power."

He suggests that safety conscious people look to stock up with canned foods and non-perishable items.

Other preparations would be to make sure that battery powered radios and flashlights are working and that enough batteries are available in different sizes. People might want to put away their lawn furniture and patio umbrellas as these items can be picked up by the wind and thrown through windows.

Boat owners will want to make sure that their vessels are properly secured, even in the lower category storms.

One of the factors that has made Bonnie's direction so difficult to predict is that it stayed stationary or moved only slightly for a long period of time. Had it moved earlier in the week, it would have only been a Category Two storm and a jet stream hovering over the north-east would have protected us. It still may, by pushing the storm off to the east.

According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and the National Weather Service, "Hurricanes are the product of the tropical ocean and atmosphere. Powered by heat from the sea, they are steered by the easterly trade winds and temperate westerlies as well as by their own ferocious energy."

"Around their core, winds grow with great velocity, generating violent seas. Moving ashore, they sweep the ocean inward while spawning tornadoes and producing torrential rains and floods."

The NOAA estimates that 10 tropical storms occur on an average yearly basis and at least six of these become hurricanes. It is estimated that five hurricanes will strike the United States coastline in a three year period.

Of the five, two will be major hurricanes, category three or higher.

The National Hurricane Center near Miami, Florida keeps a constant watch on the oceanic storm breeding areas for tropical depressions which may herald the formation of a hurricane.

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

The Medford Recreational Hockey Association announces the formation of a "Girls Only" youth hockey league for the 1998-99 season. The rosters will consist of players from the area north of Boston.

One team will be for players 12 and under, the other 15 and under.

For more information call Director Frank Rizzo at 781-391-6682, or the Hotline at 781-395-6168.

SPORTS SHORTS

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: Before merging during the 1970 season, the AFL operated from 1960-69. What player started every game for the Oakland Raiders during these ten seasons and what number did he wear? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

If a tropical storm reaches winds of up to 39 m.p.h. it is given a name from one of six lists that are provided and alternated every six years.

The naming is done to make tracking of the hurricanes easier when more than one is occurring at the same time.

As we watch Bonnie track its way up the east coast, word has reached us that tropical storm Danielle has reached hurricane Category One force. Danielle is the fourth storm of the year to be named with Alex and Charley remaining only as tropical storms.

According to NESEC, there are two terms people should know.

The first is a Hurricane Watch which means that hurricane conditions are real for the area. The second is a hurricane warning which means that a hurricane is expected to strike an area within 24 hours.

Should a warning occur:

- Listen for weather updates and stay informed;
- Keep a portable radio and flashlight on hand with fresh batteries;
- Clear your yard of all loose objects;
- Move your boat to a safe harbor and moor it securely. Do Not stay with the boat;
- Store drinking water in clean containers;
- Shutter or board all windows and secure double door entrances;
- Plan your evacuation route, know where to go and fill your car's gas tank;

Tewksbury's KIMBERLY SANFORD, who will be a junior this year, will return as a member of the UMass-Lowell varsity tennis team. Sanford and her partner, playing second doubles, helped the Lady River-hawks place third overall in the New England Collegiate Conference championships last season by defeating New Haven 6-0, 6-0, to advance their team into the final round. The duo eventually lost to SUNY-Albany, the conference champions, 3-6, 4-6.

WINCHESTER'S ALISON LINDMARK will be a member of the Stonehill College women's soccer team this fall.

A person who should be familiar to followers of BURLINGTON High sports has been named the new women's soccer coach at UMass-Boston. PATTY CARSON, a three-sport star at Burlington High and Brandeis University, will take over this fall. Carson achieved All-Middlesex League honors while playing soccer, basketball, and softball at Burlington.

•Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? The player's number was 00.

•Due to torrential rains the weekend of June 14, the Ipswich River Watershed Association was forced to postpone its annual Run for the River. The beautiful and hopefully dry trails of Bradley Palmer State Park will again be the location for this 5K U.S. track and field sanctioned race, which benefits the Ipswich River Watershed Association.

The new date is Sunday, September 20 at 9:30 am. In addition to the 5K race there will also be a health and fitness walk for non-runners and a fun run for young children. Trophies will be awarded to the overall winners and medals to those in the kids, masters and seniors age groups. The many prizes that have been donated by local merchants will be raffled off and the first 75 registrants will receive t-shirts. The entry fee is $15 for adults and $8 for children. All proceeds will be used towards programs to protect the Ipswich River.

The race is sponsored by EBSO Publishing of Ipswich.

For more information and to pre-register, call the Ipswich River Watershed Association at 978-887-8404.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION The player was Jim Otto. Congratulations to those that answered the question correctly and look for this space next week to find another sports related trivia question.

DO YOU KNOW SOME THING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please mail it to: Paul Feely Middlesex East Sports, P.O. Box 240, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200 between am and 3:30 pm, Monday through Friday, or fax information at 781-942-0884.

FENCING PROGRAMS AT ACADEMY OF FENCING

The public is invited to attend a free fencing demonstration at New England's oldest and largest fencing school. On Friday, September 11, some of New England's finest fencers will display this modern sport based on the ancient art of swordplay. The demonstration starts at 8 p.m. and admission is free.

The Academy of Fencing begins its fall term on Monday, September 14. Classes run for seven weeks. Children and adults are encouraged to try this exciting and fast-growing Olympic sport. A safe and fun activity, fencing can be learned and enjoyed at any age. The cost for a seven week beginners' course is $100 and includes the use of equipment.

The Academy of Fencing, the Boston area's only fencing school, has provided fencing instruction for over 20 years. The Academy is operated by the Boston Fencing Club, a non-profit organization. For more information about these and other programs, please contact Syd Fadner at the Academy of Fencing, (617) 926-3450.

BRMC OFFERS MENTAL HEALTH GROUP

Boston Regional Medical Center has a new support group for adults facing a change in their mental health services. Changes could include reduction in outpatient sessions or a transition in level of care. The focus of the group is to help group members return to relative independence after a period of intensive mental health care.

The group can be of particular benefit to individuals who have a history of isolating, withdrawing or becoming suicidal, depressed, anxious or volatile when their level of care changes. Action methods like role playing and group warm-up exercises will provide opportunities to give and receive feedback, support and encouragement.

Potential members will attend a prescreening interview and agree to attend 12 weekly, one-hour sessions.

For more information on this group call the BRMC Psychiatric Services Help-Line at 1-800-979-6364.

BALANCED MIND AND STRONG BODY

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

'93' through North Reading

"After 60 years of business, the Seven Acres Poultry Farm is still going strong," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Ray Magliozzi began his North Reading farm in 1938 when he was just 33 years old. Now 93, he has passed the business on to his son, Paul, but still continues to help.

"Magliozzi was married in 1931 to his wife Susie. He began work in Everett as a bricklayer but found that money was short. The bricklaying business shut down from November 15 until April 15 and Magliozzi needed another job to tide his family over through the winter. He began raising hens to sell eggs and soon had a flock of over 200. He sold his eggs through the winter and in the summer returned to bricklaying but found that the egg business was more lucrative so he set out to start his own farm.

"With the help of his wife, father, mother and four children, Raymond, Susan, Joan and Paul, he bought and cleared the seven acres of North Reading land that became the Seven Acres Poultry Farm.

"At the time there were 12 other poultry farms in North Reading, none of which are in existence today. Magliozzi began raising chickens and hens together, breaking the cardinal law of poultry farms. He was criticized as a city boy coming to the country and many thought he would never make it, but he quickly proved them wrong.

"After 80 years of hard work, Magliozzi turned the business over to his son, Paul, who now runs and owns the farm with very little help. Today the Seven Acres Poultry Farm has 17 acres of land, 2,000 hens and 3,000 turkeys. Their product list has grown considerably, now selling items such as boneless turkey breast roast, turkey breakfast sausage, smoked chickens, turkey pies and turkey soup among many others...."

Spada troupe hosts concerts

Of all the art forms, dance is the only art form not represented in our public schools. Our children never experienced the power of self expression through movement of the human body.

Since 1986, dancers from Lorraine Spada School of Dance have been performing free concerts in our local communities. The performances of the "Fascinating Rhythm" dance troupe have entertained, exposed, and educated our community on the joy and excitement of dance.

In 1996, the "Fascinating Rhythm" dancers performed lecture demonstrations for intermediate schools in Wilmington. The concert was titled, "What is Dance?"

In 1997, the troupe members performed ballet for kindergarten students, nursery school students, public libraries and "Dance on the River" in Lowell.

This past season the troupe members performed a variety show representing all styles of dance. Concerts were performed for after care programs in Wilmington and Tewksbury public schools, for Tiny Tots summer camp and "Dance on the River" in Lowell.

This year's dedicated dancers were: From Wilmington: Samantha Brooks, Arielle

Cimeno, Lauren Cronan, Amanda Graziano, Janet Gustafson, Lisa Gustafson, Angela Jackson, Athena Karalekas, Jennifer Moon, Kendal O'Dea, Christie Ross, and Kellianne Sweeney. From North

Reading: Ashley Brooks, and Meghan Dalton. From Andover: Stephanie Carabine. From Billerica: Erin Mee.

For more information, contact Lorraine Spada at (978) 657-6025.

In North Reading

"Adults Only" dance classes

Jacqueline Casey, owner and director of the For Adults Only dance program, is pleased to announce the new location for her series of dance classes designed especially for the adult student. "Effective September 14," she said, "we will begin our affiliation with the North Reading School of Ballet at 52 Main Street in North Reading."

"While we very much enjoyed our 11 year association with the LaPierre School of Dance in Reading, and would like to thank them for their hospitality, we felt it was time for a change, and are confident that this move will allow us to better serve our students," Mrs. Casey said.

"At our new facility, we will continue offering evening classes at all levels in ballet, tap, jazz, country-western line dancing and stretch-and-tone fitness. New this year is our daytime schedule. On Tuesday mornings, we will give one-hour beginner-level classes in ballet and jazz. Childcare will be available during these classes, so consider joining us on Tuesday mornings for one or both hours.

"We look forward to seeing all our current students at our new location, and eagerly anticipate welcoming new ones. If you never have danced before, but have wanted to try, we encourage you to join one of our beginner-level classes."

"If ballet, tap nor jazz are to your liking, but you still want to dance, our country-western line dancing class may be for you.

You don't need a partner, just lots of energy. And don't worry if you don't have any going in ... you'll have plenty by the time the night is out! This is a very lively class!

If you're looking for a non-aerobic exercise class, sign up for our stretch-and-tone fitness class. There is no jumping or bouncing in this class, nor is the purpose to raise your heart rate (although we promise you'll sweat!)"

"In addition to my own excellent faculty of Diane Capraro, Loretta Cardavelli and Debbie Mitchell, I am pleased to announce that Lisa Pulver, owner and director of the North Reading School of Ballet, will give an advanced ballet class for students enrolled in my adults program."

"Our classes begin the week of September 14, so please call soon to request a brochure or enroll over the phone. Our registrar is Jane Cashman. She can be reached at 978-664-5598, or you may call me, Jacqueline Casey, at 781-599-4733."

Back to school in Khakis

Classic, casual and comfortable.

These are the words that best describe the name of the fabric on everyone's hips these days - khakis. The changing mores of the youth and working populations, which embrace a carefree and relaxed lifestyle, and an increase in the number of offices with casual days, have all made for a burgeoning khakis market.

The NPD Group recently reported that, from 1995 to 1997, sales of men's khakis increased 21 percent to $2.7 billion, while women's khakis sales jumped 36 percent to $1.6 billion during the same period. According to Cotton Incorporated's Lifestyle Monitor, which tracks consumer attitudes and behavior toward fashion, 66 percent of offices in the United States currently participate in casual days, making khakis the perfect solution to employees dressing needs.

"Khakis are comfortable and fit almost anything you want to do," says Rich Domino, president of Tropical Sportswear International. "You can wear them to work, church, a restaurant, wherever."

Derived from a Hindi word, which means a dust or yellow-brown hue, khaki has been used by the military for its camouflage properties since the 19th century. Made of 100 percent cotton, khaki is both soft and supple with shades that range from light tan to dark taupe.

"Khakis have become the uniform of casual dressing and it is easy to understand why," says Ira Livingston, senior vice president of Marketing at Cotton Incorporated. "You can build a wardrobe around the neutral color khaki, and consumers are very comfortable - emotionally and physically - with cotton."

MOVIE REVIEWS

BY PAUL FEELY

"Blade" action packed, futuristic

MOVIE: "BLADE"
GRADE: ***

Review: Wesley Snipes plays a vampire killer who is also half-vampire in this action-packed futuristic thriller.

Snipes is half-human, half vampire, and is also mankind's only hope against stopping a band of vampires, led by Stephen Dorff, who are bent on breaking an age-old rule and have begun taking over the world. The age-old rule is that humans and vampires have coexisted for centuries, with one feeding off the other, but with an understanding that no group will become too powerful over the other one.

Snipes uses top-notch weapons, as well as acrobatic skills, to defeat the vampires, and the action scenes are well-choreographed and thought out.

The plot is interesting until the final half-hour, when this becomes just another formulaic action movie. Snipes is good as the hard-bodied, hot-headed hero, though, and the stunts make this one worth seeing.

Rated: R
Length: 104 minutes

SHORTTAKES

MOVIE: "SNAKE EYES"
GRADE: ***

Review: While not one of Brian DePalma's best films, this movie does have enough twists to keep the viewer interested until the end.

Nicholas Cage plays an Atlantic City cop who isn't adverse to taking a payoff or two, and who is on scene when the U.S. Secretary of State is murdered at a boxing match. His best friend, played by Gary Sinise, is the head of security for the dignitary's trip, and when Cage begins to investigate the murder, he begins to suspect that a conspiracy exists and is surprised to find out who is involved, and the lengths those individuals will go to to keep their plan a secret.

The plot isn't all that original, but Sinise and Cage give strong performances which help to make up for the deficiencies.

Rated: R
Length: 92 minutes

MOVIE: "SAVING PRIVATE RYAN"
GRADE: ****

Review: This movie is much more than just a film; it's an experience.

Steven Spielberg has once again created a masterpiece of American filmmaking, one that will assault your senses by showing the atrocities of war while at the same time tugging at your emotional heartstrings.

Tom Hanks heads up a group of eight men who are assigned a mission to find one man, who has already lost three brothers

Peach...y keen

With honors in Tewksbury

"Robert E. Peach of Tewksbury was honored recently by the Massachusetts Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) as the 1998 recipient of its Summit Award," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"The presentation was made in recognition of Peach's 13 years of 'dedicated service to the Massachusetts VICA as a member of the board of directors.'

"He began his long time association with VICA in January, 1984, as a founding corporate member of the state organization. He also served as corporate treasurer from January, 1984 through 1991, and is credited with developing and implementing the organization's first accounting system.

"From September, 1984 through June, 1985, he served as VICA chapter adviser for Greater Lowell Regional Vocational Technical School. He also served as VICA site coordinator for Monty Tech at a number of annual statewide competitions.

"In 1993, he was appointed vice chairman of the organization's board of directors, a position he held until his recent resignation.

"For the past 11 years, he has been serving as coordinator of curriculum and academics at Massachusetts Regional Vocation Technical School, Fitchburg.

"Long-time residents of Tewksbury, he and his wife, Dorothy, have three children and two grandchildren."

Looking sharp in Reading

"The Guidance Department at Reading Memorial High School has put out a profile of the RMHS Class of 1998, showing the future plans of the student body," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"In all, 235 students graduated from RMHS this year. The survey states that 118 students (or 50 percent) are headed to a four-year private college this fall, 45 students will attend a four-year Massachusetts State College (19 percent), and 18 will attend a four-year state college outside of Massachusetts (8 percent).

In all, 181 students, or 77 percent, will attend a four-year college next fall.

"Of the remaining students, six will attend a two-year private college (two percent), while 23 will attend a two-year state college (12 percent).

"Four students (two percent) are attending prep schools next fall, three (one percent) are attending technical schools, 11 (five percent) are undecided, and two (one percent) will enter the Armed Forces."

On the edge in Winchester

"After conducting interviews with representatives of two architectural firms with expertise in historic renovation, the EFPBC selected Finegold Alexander & Associates to assist HMFH in preparing a cost comparison between renovating the Lincoln School and building a new school at the Mystic school site," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Both Finegold and Stahl Associates Architects had been invited to meet with the committee, establish their credentials, and address code compliance, seismic upgrades, technology, environment, and state reimbursement.

"Both firms came highly recommended from Historic Massachusetts and the Boston Society of Architects. According to Charles Tseckares, who is an architect and knows both firms well, both are 'excellent firms.'

"Both have done renovations that received awards from the Massachusetts Historical Commission.

"Both firms had read the scope of work of the cost comparison and understood the purpose of the consultant architect, to develop an objective comparison.

"Jim Alexander said, 'We owe it to you to give this the most honest level-headed shake we can. We are not here to sell you that the school has to be used as a school.'

"Ted Stahl said, 'These are your community resources. You put the values on things such as preservation versus love of the new. We get the facts.' Both firms assured the committee they could evaluate the most efficient and effective use of space..."

How to # Prepare your home for sale

The lure of the hottest real estate market in recent history is motivating many homeowners to put their house on the market to see what price it can command. Although demand seems to be outpacing supply, do-it-yourselfers can maximize their sales price and minimize the amount of time their home is on the market by investing a small amount of money and time preparing their home for the "For Sale" sign.

"Buyers in this market know they're paying a premium price that, in many cases, far exceeds the home's assessed value. To justify that type of investment, buyers at any price point like to feel they're getting a home that has been well cared for," explained Jay Belisle of The Home Depot. "Quite frankly, all it takes is one weekend and you can transform your tired house into a home that shines."

As an important first step Belisle suggests asking a friend, neighbor, family member or real estate broker to walk through the home and help point out potential eyesores. He explained, "You're too familiar with your home to see it the way a potential buyer will see it. Chipped paint on the outside trim or scuffs on the wall become invisible when you see them every day; yet they will be one of the first things a buyer will notice."

Wall-Nuts & Bolts

Don't take short cuts to hide versus fix imperfections; the difference in time to "do it right" is minimal and sloppy quick fixes usually show. For example, many homes settle and develop cracks around doors and windows. A simple and long-lasting way to eliminate these cracks is to use self-adhesive fiberglass tape, which is designed to prevent cracking. Apply the tape directly to the wall and apply wallboard compound in one or two thin layers with a flexible taping knife. Lightly sand the area until it's smooth and then repaint it.

Baseboards and doorway trim tend to take the brunt of everyday wear and tear. Clean and lightly sand chipped areas and be sure to use well mixed and matched paint. Be sure to protect wall and floor surfaces with a wide broadknife or a plastic shielding tool. Wipe off the broadknife or shielding tool each time it is moved to prevent paint from getting on the surrounding areas.

To fix lifting wallpaper seams, The Home Depot's Home Improvement 1-2-3 book suggests that you dampen wallpaper, gently lift the edge and insert the tip of a glue applicator filled with vinyl-to-vinyl adhesive. Press the seam flat and let it stand for half an hour before smoothing it with a roller and wiping the seam with a damp sponge.

In terms of general upkeep, the rule of thumb for home selling is "less is more." Put away piles of papers, refrigerator decorations and unnecessary kitchen counter items, and organize closets and drawers. Keep rugs vacuumed, floors washed and add some fresh flowers and plants.

Impressive First Impressions

To maximize curb appeal and minimize expense, Belisle suggests that your outdoor home work focus on shaping up what you've got - from landscaping to the home exterior. "On the outside of the home, the small details can make a big impact," he commented. Closely examine your front entrance, since buyers often get a few minutes to inspect the area while their broker opens the home.

Consider repainting the front door but be sure to pick a time when the bugs are at a minimum so they don't get stuck in the paint. Most front doors are painted with the door in place so it's important to monitor the amount of paint you load on your roller or brush and work quickly to even out the coverage or you could be left with drips and runs. Be sure to keep the door open until it's completely dry or it may dry shut!

If you've got an outdoor metal railing, remove any loose paint with a wire brush while wearing gloves to protect hands from metal splinters. Rust can be brushed from iron or steel but must be primed right away to prevent further rust. It's best to use enamel paint to ensure a lasting protective finish.

To patch peeling wood trim paint, scrape away loose paint with a putty knife or paint scraper. Apply spackle to the edges of chipped paint and sand the patch area with 150-grit production sandpaper. When the patch area feels smooth to touch, repaint the area with well-mixed matching paint.

You can transform a basic deck or front porch into an outdoor paradise by adding several inexpensive plastic or clay planters filled with a variety of flowering plants and greenery. Be sure all landscape beds are weeded, neatly edged and covered with fresh mulch for a clean, fresh look.

Today's housing market presents an exciting time for families looking to upgrade and for empty nesters to maximize their profits and downsize. To get the most equity from your home, put some equity in your ability to make your home stand out from the rest.

Your home Q and A

Q: I would like to know if there is any way to put a permanent black stain on a concrete driveway?

A: No, there isn't. Opaque penetrating stains for concrete are available, but the color will probably last only three to five years. The stain colors the top surface and, depending on the porosity of the concrete, penetrates one-sixteenth or one-eighth-inches below the surface. It is particularly difficult to keep a uniform dark color on a concrete driveway because of the bleaching effect of the sun, the weathering, and wear from vehicle and foot traffic. Also, if the porosity of the concrete varies along the driveway, the stain will be uneven and blotchy. If you want an even black color, you will have to restain periodically. Proper preparation of the driveway is important. It must be clean and dry. The stain is applied with a garden pump sprayer.

If staining and restaining at considerable expense for only a temporary solution to your driveway color problem does not appeal to you, you might consider having a layer of blacktop applied over the concrete in much the same way that a highway department resurfaces a concrete road with a deteriorated surface. While this would not be inexpensive, it would give you a permanently black driveway that could be kept up with occasional coatings of asphalt driveway sealer in the same way you would maintain an asphalt driveway. Since it would be black, it would not show staining like concrete.

In Bay State

Housing market posts solid gains

The Bay State's residential real estate market remained red hot this spring as single-family home sales improved for the twelfth consecutive quarter between April and June, soaring to a new record high for a three-month period in the second quarter of 1998, the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR) reported. Sales of detached homes rose 11.5 percent in the second quarter this year vs. the same quarter in 1997, and condominium sales climbed 14.3 percent in the comparable period. It's the most active quarter for home sales since the height of the last housing boom in 1987.

Specifically, the MAR report shows 14,304 detached single-family homes were sold in Massachusetts during the second quarter of 1998 vs. 12,826 in the same period a year ago. In addition, 3,256 condominiums were sold from April to June this year vs. 2,849 in the same quarter in 1997. By month, sales of detached homes increased 16.6 percent in April, 5.4 percent in May and 13.1 percent in June, compared to the same months in 1997, while condo sales rose 12.8 percent in April, 8.5 percent in May, and 20.4 percent in June.

"There seems to be no end to the demand for housing right now," stated MAR President Mary E. Crowley. "We're reaping the benefits of a strong economy and an extended period of low, stable mortgage rates that has both buyers and sellers feeling confident in the market. What's really sparked interest this past year is an increase in the inventory of homes for sale, and a decline of nearly one percent in the rate for fixed-rate mortgages." (7.12 percent for a 30-yr. fixed-rate loan in second quarter of 1997 vs. 8.08 percent for 30-yr. fixed-rate loan in 1998 second quarter) "These factors, along with new capital gains tax rules, are enticing first-time buyers and existing homeowners into the market in record numbers," she said. The average sale price of a home in greater Boston increased 15.4 percent from $246,347 to $284,289.

Regionally, during the second quarter of 1998, detached home sales increased at levels greater than the statewide rate of growth in the Cape Cod & Islands (35.8%), Central (35.2%), West (21.2%) and Southeast (20.1%) regions. Healthy sales gains also occurred in the Northeast and South Shore regions, and although the sales report shows a decline in greater Boston, the drop is due primarily to a change in the reporting practices for the jurisdiction. In the condo market, sales exceeded year ago levels in all areas except the Southeast and South Shore regions, where sales fell by less than 10 units.

The very busy second quarter, combined with the mild weather in the first three months of the year, pushed mid-year sales of detached single-family homes up 12 percent statewide over last year, from 20,111 closings in the first six months of 1997 to 22,528 in the same period this year.

Additionally, condo sales improved 13.3 percent statewide, rising from 4,389 closings last year to 4,974 in the first half of 1998. Every region of the state saw an increase in detached home and condominium sales as well, with the greatest growth occurring in the Central, West, and Cape Cod and Islands regions.

Average selling prices for detached homes rose in all seven regions of the state in the second quarter, with the largest gains occurring in greater Boston, southeastern Massachusetts and Worcester County. Price gains were less predictable in the condo market, where appreciation in the past year ranged from 2-3 percent in the Central and Cape Cod regions to 8-12 percent in greater Boston and the Northeast region. Prices in the West region were flat and fell in southeastern Mass.

Sales and price data from the MAR report reflects transactions occurring through Realtor affiliated multiple listing services in the commonwealth, and account for approximately 50 percent of all real estate sales in Massachusetts.

Realtors to hold convention and trade show in September

The largest real estate industry trade exposition to be held in Massachusetts this year will take place next month when the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR) holds its 74th annual convention and trade show, from September 8-10, at the Hynes Convention Center in Boston.

The three-day state convention will feature a two-day trade show, Wednesday, September 9 and Thursday, September 10, allowing real estate professionals to shop for many of the latest industry-related products and services designed to enhance their business practices. Over 80 local and national vendors will be present, including computer software and hardware providers, mortgage lenders, financial planners and insurance carriers, newspaper and trade publications, office supply firms, home inspectors, voice mail carriers, and sales and promotional marketing firms.

The MAR State Convention also offers over 50 education sessions, including daily offerings of courses which will allow agents to acquire the 12 hours of mandatory continuing education required to renew their real estate license. In all, the convention will offer over 60 hours of top-notch sessions for both new licensees and experienced brokers and agents, many of which will focus on the real estate industry's latest and most popular issues and trends.

For more information on the 1998 MAR Convention and Trade Show, contact the MAR Customer Service Dept. at 1-800-725-6272.

Helping People Food Pantry," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Each year, around the beginning of June, the committee sets up drop-off spots to collect food to fill the shelves of the food pantry, for the often quiet summer months."

"According to Sheila Hennessy, marketing director at the Burlington Mall and former president of the food drive, this drive is very important because food donations are not as plentiful during this time of year."

"Everyone thinks to donate around Thanksgiving and Christmas, but never around a time like this," she said.

"This year, the committee decided to add six new drop-off spots in each of the Burlington elementary schools, with the hope of gathering more food items."

"Hennessy thinks the extra drop-offs did in fact contribute to the drive's success."

"She says this year's goal was three tons of donations, but they ended up with what she calls 'a lot of food. It should last the pantry through October and November.'"

"Hennessy said in the years past, it has taken the parks and recreation department two days to pick up all the food from each drop-off area."

"This year," she said, "it took them four days."

"Hennessy also said this year's work was very rewarding."

"We at the Burlington Business Roundtable saw a great need to help out the community and we were glad to do so."

"She added, 'We are looking forward to doing it again next year.'"

The same, but different in Woburn

"The License Commission recently approved two applications related to a prospective change in ownership of the On the Border and Bertucci's restaurants, pending review by the city solicitor," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"That approval, however, may be held up after review as it was noted afterward that the restaurant deal has not been finalized."

"In separate comments after the vote, attorney David Gammell, representing New England Restaurant Company, Inc. confirmed the deal was not final...The changes stem from a deal which calls for the New England Restaurant Company, Inc., owner of Chili's and On the Border restaurants, to buy the Bertucci's chain of some 90 restaurants east of the Mississippi, and Sal & Vinnie's Sicilian Steak House, Inc. in Norwood."

"The deal is financed, Gammell said, by the investment of stockholders and 'high yield debt on Wall Street.'"

"Under the plan, New England Restaurant Company, Inc., re-forms itself with the same name, but a different slate of directors and stockholders..."

The American Medical Journal reports that, having a keen sense of humor keeps a person's immune system strong. I'm happy (Aunt Nora's opinion notwithstanding) that reading Woodchips is good for you.

Many of you of Kelly's Meadows remember my Uncle John Shea. He and Rowan Fitzgerald were bosom friends. Oh! If I had tape recorded their daily insults to one another (hey, what are friends for?)

One day I asked Uncle John if he wanted to buy a raffle ticket? "What's it for Chipper?" he asked. "It's for a widow and her six children." I told him. A polite answer of what he replied was, "What the heck would I do, with a widow and her six children if I WON?"

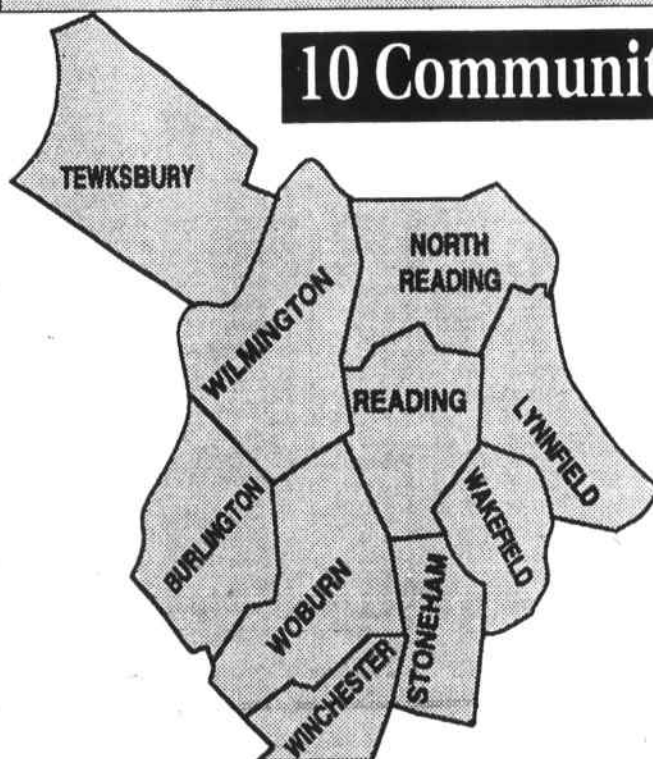

I remember when I bought a beautiful engagement ring at the Jewelry Box. I had my girlfriend's name engraved on the inside. "Peggy," I said, I want you to be my wife." When she stopped laughing she said, "Well! I must tell you Chipper, I don't love you! I love someone else." "Will you tell me his name?" "No," she said, "you probably want to start a fight with him." "No," I said I just want to try and sell him this darn ring I had bought for YOU!"

Lezar Feragamo is a philosopher. His advice is, "As you wander down the road of life, whatever be your goal. Keep your eyes upon the donut and NOT upon the HOLE."

Bob Thaves said, "Remember, there is no 'U' turn, on the highway of Life."

I took Kathy out to dinner and I asked for a table near a waiter Kathy ordered steak and she got her order right away. I ordered a half-a-chicken and waited and waited. I finally called the waiter over and asked, "what's taking so long?" "The cook said," he explained, "that he can't kill half-a-chicken, you will have to wait until someone else orders the other half."
